12 Meet Death In Mountain Attack

President Quirino Orders Immediate Campaign Against Killers, Whom He Identifies As Bandits

MANILA—(Friday)—(AP)—Mrs. Aurora Quezon, widow of the Philippines' first president, her daughter and son-in-law were among 12 persons killed in a roadside ambush northeast of Manila yesterday.

Ten others were wounded by the unidentified machinegunners on the road 88 miles northeast of Manila.

President Elpidio Quirino said he believed the killers were bandits, and rodered an immediate all-out campaign against them.

However, Manila papers raised the possibility that Quirino himself may have been the intended victim. He had been invited to make the journey with Mrs. Quezon, but was unable to do so at the last minute.

The Quezon party with an armed constabulary escort, left Manila shortly after 5 a. m., local time, for Baler on the northeast coast of Luzon. The 60-year-old widow was to have unveiled a marker in memory of her husband, Manuel Quezon.

Moving Through Gorge.

Incomplete reports here said the party was moving through a narrow gorge of the Sierra Madre mountains 88 airline miles from Manila when a burst of machinegun fire riddled the first two automobiles. They carried Mrs. Quezon and her immediate party. The attack came between 10 and 11:30 a. m.

Constabulary troopers returned the fire. There was a sharp fight in which the troopers suffered three dead and seven wounded.

The remaining members of the party were forced to retreat and raced back to the village of Bangabong, where constabulary reinforcements were called.

Find Daughter's Body.

Later at the scene of the ambush the constabulary found the bodies of Mrs. Quezon, her daughter, Maria Aurora (Baby) Quezon and the mortally wounded Felipe Buencamino, II', 28, husband of Mrs. Quezon's youngest daughter, Zenaida.

Also dead were Mayor Ponciano Bernardo of Quezon City (outside Manila), Maj. Primitivo San Augustin and his brother, Maj. Antonio San Augustin, both noted guerrilla fighters during the war with Japan, a Lieut. Lizzam and three constabulary privates.

The wounded included Maj. Gen. Rafael Jalandoni, retired army chief of staff, who notified President Quirino and the Philippine Red Cross of the ambush. The general returned to Manila late today.

Bodies Reported Looted.

In Baguio, President Quirino ordered the constabulary and army to rush reinforcements to troubled Nueva Ecija province to undertake a general campaign against bandits. The president said he could not believe the attack had been led by communist-directed armed peasants called Hukbalahaps.

He said that Mrs. Quezon was loved too much by these people to be armed by them.

There were reports that the bodies had been looted of jewelry and valuables. Quirino said this was a further indication that the attackers were bandits and not Huks.

Only last week the president had announced that the Huks had been broken into small, ineffective bands and reduced to marauding for food.

News of Mrs. Quezon's death spread like wildfire through Manila and over radio networks throughout the islands.

There was evidence of shock and anger from Filipinos.

The bodies of Mrs. Quezon, her daughter and Mayor Bernardo were expected to reach Manila tonight.

State funeral services will be held.

Mrs. Quezon was beloved by Filipinos for her charity work with children; for leading the suffrage movement for Filipina women and as chairman of the Philippine Red Cross.

President Truman Believes:

Russia Acting In Good Faith

Lifting Of Berlin Blockade Talks Reach Final Stage, With Next Move Up To Moscow

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said today he believes the Russians are acting in good faith in their new moves toward lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The president told a news conference that if he didn't think the Russian feelers were advanced in good faith, the United States would not be continuing conversations on the matter.

These conversations have now reached the stage of final decision, with Russia controlling the next move.

WHERRY AND BRIDGES GET CHINA BACKGROUND

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) talked with President Truman today about the situation in China, and then demanded a "complete review" by congress of American Chinese policy.

Secretary of State Acheson and Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) also took part in the 30-minute White House talk.

Bridges, an advocate of increased aid to the Chinese nationalist government, said he and Wherry were bound to secrecy about what they learned.

But he declared the information given them "ought to be made known to more senators."

Called to White House.

Bridges is the top republican on the senate appropriations committee. There were signs that if no other committee acts to order a review of China affairs, Bridges and Wherry may call state department officials for that purpose

Sen. Burney Quotes Star Editorial

. . . To Legislature

Sen. Dwight Burney, speaking on the floor of the legislature Thursday, quoted at length from the front page editorial of Editor James E. Lawrence in the Wednesday edition of The Lincoln Star, referring to the record of surrounding states in caring for the needs of educational institutions.

Members of the legislature joined with Sen. Burney in praising the editorial as an outstanding challenge to the members as well as the people of the state.

"We cannot be smug," Sen. William A. Metzger said. "It is only by knowing and heeding what others do that we can measure our own accomplishments."

Sen. Burney, in quoting The Star editorial, specifically mentioned the following passages:

"Nebraska's "White Spot" in this year of 1949 loses some of its sheen when placed alongside Nebraska's good neighbors to the north, west, south, and east.

"These neighboring commonwealths — all Missouri basin states—young or old—apparently age cuts no figure—reveal a spirit of up-and-coming while in Nebraska we lag—filled with fear—overwhelmed with despair —tormented and divided among ourselves.

"We don't expect that the members of the Nebraska unicameral will like this. They have been talking economy, and in their talk they have been utterly and wholly honest. The pathetic thing about it is that they have convinced themselves that what they say is true. They have pulled the shades down upon everything happening around them, they have resigned themselves to the fact that there isn't the inherent will in this state to match strides with states that are younger, less populous; to match strides reasonably with neighboring states that are older, more populous—to match strides with our neighbors. They live alongside us; they who are filled with hope and with faith in themselves, we are filled with fear and with a lack of confidence in ourselves. From Governor Peterson on down through the legislature in the matter of education we have surrendered to "the White Spot"—knowing at the time that we surrender to the White Spot we gouge and dig for federal funds at every opportunity and we use it to cover up our own unwillingness to build and create for ourselves. We are in the "White Spot Doldrums"—it has in truth become Nebraska's state song — and while we sing, our neighbors march on.

"We are losing population. Our young people are leaving us. One of the reasons they are leaving us, to talk with them, is that they do not care to live in a state of lost hope. We had six seats in the lower house of congress 30 years ago. We have four seats in the lower house of congress today—two less than we had 30 years ago—and only by the grace of God will we escape the loss of another seat in 1950 census. The empire that was christened Nebraska territory, all 550 thousand square miles of it, later carved into six states, is pushing ahead while we are falling behind, falling behind with a leadership that preaches fear, a leadership that says nothing can be done beyond what is being done now. That is not the way our neighbors, portions of this same Nebraska territory, see it. They seem to think that not only can something be done, but they are doing it."

Passage Of Health Plan 'Next Year'

. . . Sen. Murray Predicts

WASHINGTON—(AP) — Senator Murray (D-Mont) said today that final congressional action on President Truman's health program may be delayed until next year.

Murray, longtime sponsor of government health insurance proposals, said public hearings would start May 3. "But it may take some time before a completed bill is ready for the senate."

Gas Tax Bill Is Advanced

One Cent Increase Has No Opposition

The gas tax increase bill, keystone of the governor's highway improvement program, was advanced in the legislature on voice vote Thursday afternoon without opposition.

The bill increases the state gasoline tax from five cents a gallon to six cents a gallon, and is expected to bring in about $3,400,000 a year in new revenue. This could be matched with a like amount of federal aid for highway construction.

If the measure passes on final reading with the emergency clause attached, it will be effective immediately upon signature by the governor.

Without the emergency clause, it would take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Move Diesel Bill.

Twenty-nine votes are necessary to pass a bill with the emergency clause. Only 22 votes are necessary for passage without the clause.

With the gas tax measure moved up, the legislature proceeded to advance the diesel equalization bill, raising the equalization fee collected from operators of non-gasoline powered vehicles in the same proportion as the gas tax is increased in LB 399.

The road bills, first considered Monday, were taken up again today after advancement this morning of a bill re-vamping the administrative set-up in the highway department.

Some legislators had indicated they would be against giving the department more money unless there was some change in the way in which the department was administered.

Callan Scores Presentation Of NU Budget

Presentation of the University of Nebraskas budget request came under the fire Thursday of Sen. John Callan, chairman of the unicamerals budget committee.

Speaking to the Knife and Fork club at the Y.W.C.A., Callan criticized the mode of preparation of the budget.

."When I sat in with the governor during his hearing on the university budget, not a member of the board of regents was there," Sen. Callan said.

"It was the same thing before the budget committee," he added.

Sen. Callan also commented on the discrepancy between the amount the governor said the university would receive in fees and what university officials estimated.

"If we had a sound budget procedure, we could go into the requirements and be in better shape to judge needs," he declared.

The committee chairman said there would be an attempt to have the budget bill procedure changed for the next session.

Schroeder Hits Trend Toward Social Benefits

"Every time we do something for someone else, they rely less on themselves and expect the state to do more and morme," Sen. Norris Schroeder of Hoskins, Neb., told Co-operative club members at the chamber of commerce Thursday noon.

Collective insurance, more old age benefits, unemployment payments and retirement benefits are legislative fields into which we are moving, and they will ultnmately lead the country to socialism, Schroeder said.

Schroeder said he had viewed the results of socialism during a trip to Europe recently and "the results are not good."

School Land Lease Bill Is Advanced

"Does Not Correct Abuses," Declares Senator Schroeder

Attempts by Sen. Clyde Cretsinger to obtain an amendment to LB 490 which would put a clause in school land leases providing for cancellation in case sale is ever authorized by the legislature were beaten off Thursday by a vote of 14 to 15.

Sen. William Hern, Chadron, who had been excused returned just in time to break a tie vote after a call of the house had been made. The bill was finally advanced from general file by a 17 to 11 vote.

. . At the same time, Senator Cretsinger's bill, LB 474, to sell the land, was made a special order of business for May 4. Cretsinger's amendment to LB 490, to make all subsequent leases subject to possible future sale of the land, was defeated today.

The bill, LB 490, was introduced as a method of correcting abuses in the rental of school lands after Sen. Cretsinger had offered a bill to sell the land. Unsatisfactory at first, it was practically rewritten under direction of Sen. Ray Babcock, who contended that it would "correct most of the abuses."

45 Proposals.

Sen. N. F. Schroeder called attention to the fact that since 1921 there have been introduced in the legislature 45 proposals to correct the abuses. Of these, he said, 23 were found acceptable and voted into law.

"However, this is just another bill and does not correct the abuses," he insisted.

Sen. Babcock charged that the Cretsinger amendment only "muddied the waters and confused the issue." He said past legislation had improved conditions and that a bill passed the last session had doubled valuations.

Red Herring Charged.

The Sidney senator said that valuations have increased from $6,500,000 in 1942 to $16,500,000 in 1948. About 25 war veterans are farming school leases in his county, Babcock said. "These kids would not be able to compete against those established in farming if they had to bid for leases," he continued.

Sen. Arthur Carmody, who said his 80 acre school lease was only 3 per cent of his land holdings, objected to the four senators who have leases being singled out in news dispatches. He said he opposed their being used as "red herrings."

Sen. Cretsinger said he couldn't possibly see how the proposed bill could correct abuses and contended his amendment was the only safeguard for the state.

--Liquor Commission--

Licenses To Wythers, Val Weiler O.K'd

City Is Overruled On Drive-In Refusal; Called Undue Hardship

The state liquor control commission Thursday overruled the Lincoln city council resolution prohibiting drive-in liquor stores in Lincoln and granted a package liquor license to Roy Wythers and an off sale beer license to Val Weiler.

The commission's action was taken after Wythers appealed a refusal by the city council to recommend him for a renewal of a package liquor license at 140 South Sixteenth, and Weiler appealed the failure of the council to grant an off sale beer license at 128 South Sixteenth. A hearing on the appeals was held on April 22.

In the rulings on both appeals the commission said, "The refusal of the city council to renew the applicant's license during the term of lease, after approving the lease, permitting licensee to move in and expend money on the new location, where no fault on the part of the licensee is shown and no change in conditions justifying such refusal, works an undue hardship on said licensee and is arbitrary and unreasonable."

Hardship Cited.

The licenses were denied by the council after a resolution was passed prohibiting liquor or beer licenses where drive-in facilities existed. In the hearing before the commission, Mayor Clarence Miles testified the council's action was taken on the grounds that such drive-ins were an unnecessary threat to safety, increased the city's policing problem, and opened the possibility for other drive-ins which would further complicate the problems of law enforcement.

In the ruling, the commission stated that the city had approved the erection of a set-back building with curb cuts for a drive-in package beer or liquor store, had approved a two year lease by the applicants on the premises and approved their move and transfer of license to the new location. They further ruled that there was no objection by the council to the licensees personally or in the conduct of their business, and that there was no objection to the location except the curb cut which the council had previously allowed.

No Bearing on Future.

The ruling also provided that, "this decision does not prevent the city of Lincoln by ordinance from preventing any other drive-in places in the future."

In conclusion the commission found "that sufficient evidence was not produced at this hearing to justify the refusal to grant this license under the law," and "this license should be granted.

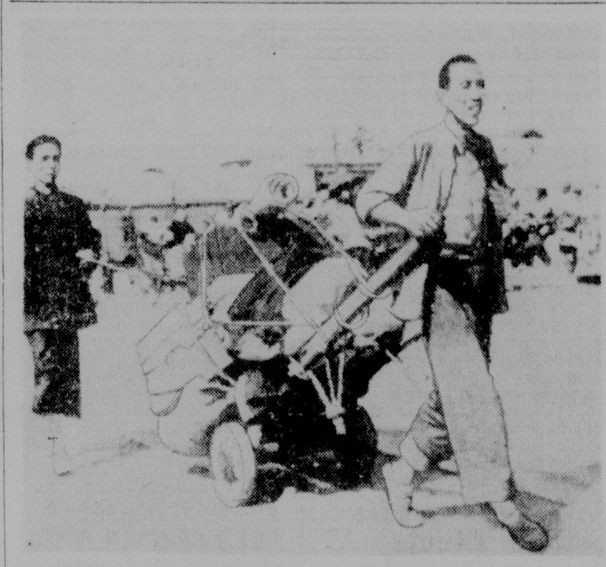

Others testifying for the city at the appeal hearing were Director of Safety Cobe Venner and Chief of Police Joe Carroll.

Questioned about the commission's decision, Mayor Clarence Miles said he told the commission at its hearing last Friday that he would favorw drive-ins if the two applications were granted.

"I don't believe in discrimination," Miles said. "Everyone ought to have the same chance at these licenses. On the other hand, I don't believe drive-ins are conducive to good law enforcement and I might not be inclined to grant additional licenses. I'll just have to give it some consideration."

3 Killed In A Plane Crash

... Near Nickerson, Kas.

NICKERSON, Kas.—(AP)—The bodies of three men and the wreckage of a private plane were found near here yesterday.

The victims were Gene Shipley, farm service director of radio station WIBW, Topeka; K. G. Marquardt, 36, chief engineer of WIBW and pilot of the plane; and Perry Reed, Reading, Kas.

The plane crashed Tuesday night during a storm.

The men had flown from Topeka to Windom, where Shipley addressed a 4-H club meeting. The accident occurred after they took off for Hutchinson.

Gene Shipley, well known throughout Nebraska farm areas, worked closely with the University of Nebraska college of agriculture in coverage livestock demonstrations and other farm educational projects.

Shipley was in Lincoln last week to cover the Feeders' day and was an annual attendant at the ag college open house. He also did yearly coverage of the state fair.

T-H Act Stirs Up A Battle

Truman's Threat Brings Loud Protests From Dixiecrat Congressmen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Northern and southern democrats got into a hot fight on the house floor today over President Truman's warning that party members who refuse to vote for Taft-Hartley act repeal will fall out of White House grace.

The chamber was in the midst of debate on the union-hated labor law.

The fireworks began popping right after Rep. Wood (D-Ga), formally asked the house to take his bill, which would keep most of the Taft-Hartley act, as a substitute for the administration repeal measure.

Only a couple of hours earlier, Mr. Truman had told his news conference that democratic votes in congress on Taft-Hartley repeal will be a test of party loyalty. The administration bill would repeal the T-H law and return to a modified version of the 1935 Wagner labor relations act.

'Purchase Tag.'

Rep. Herbert (D-La) took the floor "to advise my democratic colleagues" that President Truman "has placed a patronage purchase tag" on votes for the administration's labor bill.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts jumped up to say that Herbert and others on the democratic side who supported the states rights ticket are "sitting by tolerance" on the democratic side.

If Hebert had had his way, McCormack went on, "We would not have a democratic majority in this house and we would not have a democratic president. He actually and openly supported a splinter party."

Before the debate turned to Mr. Truman's ideas on party loyalty, administration men sought to wood possible supporters of the Wood bill by holding out the prospect of amending the administration's bill in some major respects. The bill bears the name of Rep. Lesinki (D-Mich), chairman of the house labor committee.

In advance of the voting, both sides talked confidently. Administration men said they would have a minimum of 210 votes—normally enough to send their bill to the senate.

Wheat Takes Abrupt Skid

'Let's Not Sell Nebraska Short'—Senator Burney

... Tells Legislature In "Fighting Speech"

"Let's come up out of our doldrums and do something," Senator Dwight Burney challenged his colleagues in the legislature Thursday. "Are we going to continue to drag our heels?"

Sen. Burney

The Hartington senator, who had been in bed with a severe cold, prefaced his remarks by a statement that he had told the people in his district last October that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

"I probably have but few more talks to make before this body," he explained but he emphasized that he considered his talk today as the most important of any he had made. He had asked permission for the talk as a special privilege.

Squeeze Property Owners.

In a voice choked with emotion, the Hartington solon talked of his home state and it's future.

"Why does Nebraska fall behind, lose population and drag her heels?" he inquired. The answer stands out in big letters.

"We squeeze the property owner like a damp sponge until he is dry!"

Sen. Burney bared his innermost feelings on why he has campaigned throughout the session for a sales tax. The bill of which he was co-introducer was defeated Wednesday by a vote of 30 to 12.

Failed Miserably.

"I want you to know what I bear no animosity toward any member here," he explained. "My feelings are in no way injured and if they were, that in no way would pertain to what I have to say.

"I went home last evening quite at peace.

"I felt that we had fought a good fight and had lost.

"My conscience seemed clear, for I thought I had done my best.

"Then I got The Lincln Star and read the front page editorial and I knew I had failed miserably."

Sen. Burney said that his "blood boiled" within him that he could not even think of going home satisfied with so many of the state's problems unsolved.

"Here we sit—43 leaders in the state and yet we wait for the people back home to tell us what to do. We see it in the papers continually, Mr. Storz, Dr. Christiansen and many others, and now Mr. Lawrence trying to find the answer to the question, 'what is wrong with Nebraska?' "

Why Do We Chisel.

His answer to the question was given his colleagues by the Hartington solon. "We squeeze the property owner like a damp sponge until he is dry!"

"Why do we cut appropriations to the university, to the normals, to the board of control?" he inquired.

Answering his own question, Sen. Burney said, "because we all know that it isn't fair to put more load on the property owner.

"Why do people chisel on their assessments?" he continued. "Because they are worried by the load.

"Let's dig down into the revenue committee and get the income tax bill. Let's resurrect the sales tax bill; yes, let's dig up the liquor bill and pass them all.

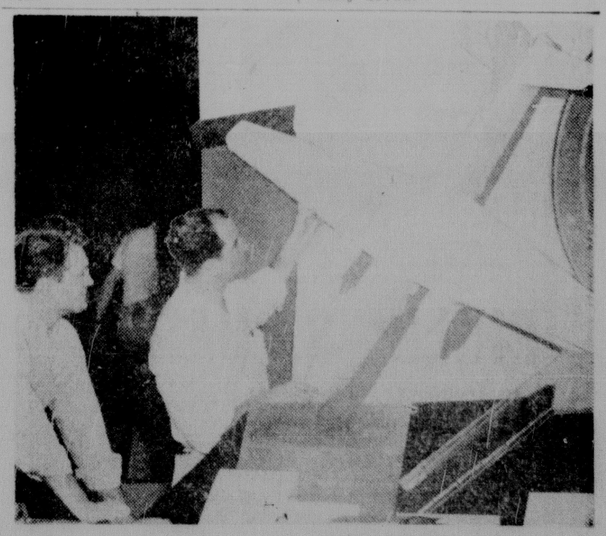

"But, let's not sell Nebraska short!

"Are we going to continue to lose our good professors because we can't pay them? Are we going to crowd our wards in the state institutions still more because we haven't the money? Are we going to feed the mentally ill a few less vitamins because we haven't got the money? Are we going to cut down on research because we haven't got the money?

"Are we going to continue dragging our heels?

"Under a fair system of taxation, Nebraska would not have to pinch pennies. We wouldn't have to lose ground. We have no right to put it off any longer.

"Are we afraid? Let's wake up to our problems. Shall we condemn our great state for two more years. Everyone benefits from our schools, our county and state government. Let's have everyone help pay.

Await Soviet Reply

Exact Terms For Ending Blockade Asked by West: May Finish The Cold War

NEW YORK—(AP)—The world waited today for Russia's official reply to a western request that she state formally and exactly her terms for lifting the Berlin blockade.

There were reports that the Soviets already have replied that they will call off the blockade if the western allies will end their counter-blockade and fix a mutually agreeable date for four-power discussions of the entire German problem.

Statesmen of many nations expressed hope that the east and west may be on the verge of negotiations which, with careful and patient handling, might bring the cold war to an end.

New Stage.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore in Moscow said diplomats there considered Russia and the three western powers may have made a start toward a new stage of mutual relations. Nobody was predicting a settlement, he said, but they felt a settlement could result. Gilmore's dispatch passed through Russian censorship, but the copy of his story received in New York did not indicate whether there had been any deletions by the censor.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, American ambassador-at-large, submitted yesterday the request that the Russians say officially and in writing what they have in mind as terms for lifting the blockade, a main cold war irritant.

Jessup's possibly momentous 92-minute meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko and Jakob A. Malik was surrounded by unusual secrecy. They met on the second floor of the elaborately furnished headquarters of the Russian United Nation delegation on Park avenue, New York.

The Russians sent the single written word "No" to newsmen asking for their comment on the meeting. The American delegation announced only that Jessup had informally communicated the western powers' request at the session.

There were persistent reports, however, that the Russians gave an oral reply at the meeting outlining the two provisions they demand as the price for ending their blockade.

One report said Malik told Jessup that Russia would not ask the western allies to change their plans to set up a west German republic, independent of the Soviet zone. There had been a lot of speculation that the Kremlin had sprung the new overtures in an effort to block formation of the western republic.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Service Extension Of Street Railway Firm Said Costly

OMAHA—(AP)—According to a witness for the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company, the extension of service to keep pace with the city's spread has also been costly to the firm.

The witness, F. P. Hamilton, also told the state railway commission that another costly item was the transportation bargain that some riders get here.

The commission was told that an Omaha transit rider, if he transfers twice, can ride 17.55 miles for a dime.

The street railway company is seeking a hike in fares from 10 cents straight to two for a quarter.

Bill Altering Road Bureau Pushed Ahead

Amendment Provides For Business Manager

The state legislature Thursday advanced on general file LB 246, splitting the state department of roads and irrigation into two separate departments and providing for a business manager to be in charge of the new road department.

An amendment by Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh, Dakota City, was tied to the bill before advancement providing for the road department business manager. Under the provisions of the amendment the manager would be responsible to the governor only.

It would be the manager's power to appoint a director of the three bureaus under the department of roads. These are the state engineer and the highway division, the motor vehicle registration division, and the law enforcement division, or the state safety patrol.

$6,500 Salary.

The amendment also provides that the manager of all legislators on progress of construction, proposed allocation of funds and maintenance work accomplished.

Another amendment offered by Sen. Hugh Carson, Ord, introducer of the original bill, was also adopted by the legislature. This amendment changes the name of the new department to the department of irrigation, water power and drainage and proposes that the director of the new department be paid a salary of $6,500 per year.

No opposition to the amendment or the advancement of the bill was voiced on the floor.

Senators Have Power To Set Up "Manager"

The legislature may create the office of general manager of the department of roads and irrigation, an attorney general's opinion said today.

And the opinion to Sen. Otto Prohs, Gering, added that the legislature may provide for appointment of a state engineer by such general manager.

"The legislature may define, by statute, the duties of the head of the department of roads and irrigation and, reasonably, prescribe the qualifications of persons who are to be eligible to appointment to that office," it went on.

However, the opinion declared, "the legislature could not prescribe qualifications of a character so restrictive as to confine the governor in the exercise of his power of appointment . . ."

The legislature Wednesday also approved for introduction by a vote of 32 to 0, LB 539, which would give municipal judges in Omaha and Lincoln the same powers as are now held by the justices of the peace. The bill was assigned to the judiciary committee and set for public hearing at 2 p. m. on May 4.

Fence Now Surrounds Old Abandoned Well

A fence is back up around an abandoned well at the south end of Ninth street between High and Calvert.

Deputy City Engineer H. C. Schlueter said the fence had been replaced and the street barricaded yesterday after a southwest Lincoln mother had reported her children playing around the abandoned well. The uncovered well measures about 26 feet in diameter and is about 43 feet deep.

Lions Members Plant 600 Trees At State Fair Grounds

Members of the five Lions clubs in Lincoln Wednesday evening joined forces and planted 600 trees at the state fair grounds.

Participating in the tree-planting bee were clubs from University Place, Havelock, Bethany, College View and Lincoln.

The trees were furnished by the state fair board. The holes were dug with a mechanical digger. Members of the Lions clubs set the trees and packed them into place.

Hedge Rows.

Most of the trees were set in the 11-acre triangular tract between Salt and Oak creeks and bounded on the west by Fourteenth street. Russian olives were planted as a hedge row with hackberry trees placed in front of them.

This area, according to Ed Schultz, secretary of the state fair board, will be made into a camping ground to accommodate state fair visitors. A suspension foot bridge is planned across Salt creek, he added.

Parking Area.

The present camping grounds will eventually become parking areas, Schultz said. The new camping area also will be used for parking purposes if necessary, he added.

The rest of the trees were planted throughout the state fair grounds where needed.

Schultz said the state fair board "is very appreciative of the interest that the Lions clubs have shown and we hope they will make it an annual project."

Phil Johnson, president of the Lincoln club, was in charge of the project. Members of the combined planting committee were M. C. Mayo, University Place, Howard Gotfredson, College View, Loy Graft, Havelock, Dr. E. T. Hobbs, Bethany and Harry Haynie, Lincoln.

Frohn Predicts Vote Challenges May Reach 2,000

Election Commissioner Ray Frohn said Thursday that challenges of voters qualifications for the city general election next Tuesday may run as high as 2,000.

Reports from inspectors in 14 of the 91 precincts in the city have listed more than 500 challenges, Frohn reported. Some precincts listed nearly 100 challenges.

The challenge lists, of those voters who have moved from the precincts in which they are registered, are prepared by the precinct inspectors before each general election.

The election commissioner then notifies by mail all persons on the lists. Challenge letters for this election will be mailed Saturday. Persons wishing to dispute the challenges can have their names reinstated on the voting lists by proving residence in the precinct in which they are registered.

The expected challenges this time are more than twice as numerous as last fall, the only other challenge list prepared since the election commissioner's office was set up. Between 800 and 900 challenges were sent out at that time.

'White Collar Criminal' Cited By Prof. Ludwig

...As Morale Menace

"If we are to maintain morale and prevent disintegration of our free democratic institutions, the criminal in the white collar must be stopped now," Professor of Law Frederick J. Ludwig of the University of Nebraska told Lions club members Thursday noon.

The professor said most crimes against our pocketbooks belong to the "upper social and economic level of our society, and invade our purses in the normal course of their business activities."

Ludwig cited test cases which showed certain service shops cheated their customers as much as 63 per cent of the time. Many other businesses do the same, he said. "Good" citizens also aid crime in this country by refusing to report law violations to authorities.

White collar crime "breaks down traditional respect for moral values and institutions," Ludwig said.

"And worse than all this," he said, "is the support such crime lends to the idea, altogether too current, that the only values in life are material ones; that an individual's position in the community can be measured by the length of his automobiles wheelbase.

Accelerated Soil Program Is Advocated

For Missouri River Basin

CONCORDIA, Kas. — (AP) — Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas today urged the Missouri river basin inter-agency committee to push soil conservation along with the flood control program in the valley.

Soil conservation, he said, has lagged behind flood control developments. This phase, he added, was highly important not only to the people of Kansas but to those who live in other states in the area.

He apparently was referring to the proposed $3,900,000,000 soil conservation program for the Missouri valley recommended by the department of agriculture.

Ugly Rumors.

"There are ugly rumors floating around in high places in Washington," the Kansas governor said, "that the reason for the delay in soil conservation developments might be that there were some who would like to see a Missouri valley authority for this basin."

He said there was no doubt that under the flood control act of 1936 that soil conservation was just as much a part of the plan as was flood control.

He was one of three governors at the morning session. The others were Governors Fred G. Aandahl of North Dakota, and George T. Michelson of South Dakota. Gov. Val Petersen of Nebraska is expected later today.

H. E. Robinson, Kansas river district manager of the bureau of reclamation, reported that the contract has been awarded for the construction of the Superior, Neb., Courtland, Kas., diversion dam on the Republican river. This dam will divert water into an irrigation canal. Robinson said work on the Nebraska portion is expected to get under way this summer.

Tomorrow the committee and other officials at the meeting will tour Pick-Sloan development projects in Nebraska, including the Harlan county dam site. The tour will end at McCook, Neb.

Several of the governors on the committee who were unable to attend, sent representatives. They included John B. Dodd of Montana and John A. Short of Missouri.

W. A. McConnell Is Convocation Speaker At N.U.

To Tell How New Cars Are Tested

William A. McConnell, head of the engineering test section of the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn, Mich., will address the Engineer's week convocation of the University of Nebraska engineering and architecture college to be held Friday at 11 a. m., at the Nebraska theatre.

Wm. M'Connell

The speaker's subject will be, "How Your New Automobile is Tested." Mr. McConnell received his A.B. degree in 1939 and his engineering degree in 1941, both with distinction, and both from the University of Nebraska.

Head of Department.

In 1939 and 1940 he worked during the summer months for General Motors and in 1941 became a test engineer at General Motors proving grounds. In 1944 he was loaned to the navy for experimental work at the radar proving grounds. In the fall of 1945, he became the head of the mechanical engineering department at the General Motors proving grounds and in December, 1946, was appointed to his present position.

McConnell has invented several pieces of equipment used to test new autos. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. A. McConnell of Lincoln. The Rev. McConnell is pastor of First-Plymouth Congregational church.

The public is invited to attend the convocation.

Bridges' call for a congressional review was made in an interview with reporters.

He said he and Wherry were summoned to the White House for the discussion. Both have been critical of the administration for not giving more aid to the Chinese nationalist government.

Truman Praises Navy.

President Truman and Acheson were said to have discussed intimate details of the China situation in the conference.

There were reports that the president mapped the administration's plans for any future action that might be taken, but Bridges would not comment on this.

China came up earlier at Mr. Truman's weekly meeting with reporters. The president said then that the navy is amply prepared to remove all Americans from Shanghai.

The president told a news conference he understood there were reports the navy had run out on American civilian, at Shanghai, now threatened by Chinese communists.

Speaking solemnly, he said there is no foundation in fact for any such report.

The navy, Mr. Truman went on, has done an excellent job at Shanghai and has been ready at all times to take out Americans in the city.

The liner President Wilson, the president said, left Shanghai with vacancies and the President Pierce and President Van Buren are still available for further evacuations.

POSTMASTER NOMINEES ARE READY FOR SENATE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said today he is sending to the senate the names of approximately 2,000 postmaster nominees.

He said 1,000 nominations will be made today and an equal number will follow later.

Most of them are new nominations, he added, but many others are names submitted to the republican-controlled 80th congress last year and not acted on.

Theatre And Sports Arena Planned In Auditorium

Main Theatre Capacity Is 1,902

Five Meeting Halls, Little Theatre To Seat 1,637 Persons

On next Tuesday, May 3, the voters of Lincoln will pass on a proposal to raise $1,500,000 by a bond issue to be used with $950,000 already approved to build a city auditorium.

In order to give the voters a clearer picture of the issue and the facts that surround it, The Lincoln Star tonight presents the second of a series of three articles on the auditorium proposal.

By DALE HOAGLAN.

Lincoln's new auditorium would in reality be two buildings, a theatre and a sports arena joined together.

Under the original plans which were drawn, the theatre wing of the T-shaped building would face on Fifteenth street with the arena wing facing on Sixteenth.

According to present design, a main theatre seating 1,902 persons, a little theatre seating 292, and five meeting halls seating a total of 1,345 comprise the three main divisions of the theatre wing

Big Stage.

The main theatre is designed to accommodate all theatrical productions which require ample stage and scenery equipment in addition to substantial seating capacity. It is in this theatre where Lincoln would see most of its road shows, opera and concerts.

The stage is 40 feet deep by 100 feet wide and 76 feet from floor to ceiling. It is completely equipped with a stage and theatre switchboard and scenery rigging equipment at one side. Doors at the other side lead to dressing rooms and a receiving room.

Four chorus dressing rooms and a large storage room are located under the stage. An orchestra pit, a public address system, balcony, and a completely equipped projection booth are the theatre's other major features.

Little Theatre.

The 292 seat little theatre, located in the basement on the north side of the theatre wing, will be used for productions requiring a small auditorium equipped with stage facilities. Like the main theatre it will have a sloping floor furnished with permanent seats.

The little theatre, measuring 34 by 66 feet, has its own foyer, check room and ticket office. The stage measures 36 feet wide by 37 feet deep which will permit storage of scenery at the rear. The stage is adjacent to the chorus dressing rooms under the main theatre stage.

On both sides of the main theatre will be located a series of meeting halls and offices for use by various civic organizations. The meeting halls will be used by conventions and for receptions in connection with the use of the main theatre.

Lounge Space.

On the north side of the theatre on the first floor will be two meeting halls, the smaller, 26 by 35 feet, seating 130 persons and the larger, 26 by 42 feet, seating 156 persons. The larger will have kitchenette facilities for limited food services.

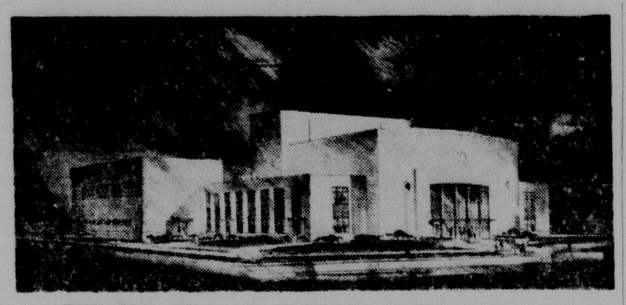

A 26 by 54 foot meeting room on the first floor south of the theatre will seat 221 persons and can be divided into two rooms with folding partitions. It has kitchenette facilities.

The large 35 by 87 foot hall on the second floor north of the theatre has a seating capacity of 421 persons. It is equipped with checking and utility rooms and kitchenette facilities. A hall south of the theatre on the second floor is almost the same size, would seat 417 persons, and has folding partitions in addition to the other facilities.

The theatre lobby and foyer, various office and lounge spaces, storage and equipment rooms make up the balance of the theatre wing facilities.

In the final article of this series we will present the facilities of the arena building with its exbition areas.

(What is the exact seating capacity of the auditorium? Read Article Number Three in The Star Friday.)

THEATER WING OF PROPOSED AUDITORIUM—This is the architect's drawing of the theater wing of the proposed $2,450,000 auditorium which the city will build if voters approve an additional $1,500,000 bond issue at the city election on Tuesday, May 3. Voters aproved $950,000 in bonds for the building at a previous election. The auditorium will have a sports arena and two theaters in the building. (Staff Photo)

CALDER . . . "I have not accepted."

Calder Is Not Ready To Accept

Truman Hopes He Will Become Army Secretary

WASHINGTON—(AP)— President Truman said today he hopes that Curtis E. Calder, New York utilities executive, will accept appointment as secretary of the army.

Mr. Truman also told a news conference that Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer is under consideration for appointment as secretary of the navy.

The jobs of secretary of the army and navy still were open, and President Truman and Secretary of Defense Johnson were discovering that a number of people apparently don't want the posts.

Yesterday the administration thought it had a new secretary of the army to succeed Kenneth C. Royall, who left the Pentagon last night. Word went around that Calder had agreed to begin work in 60 days.

But when Calder read about it, he called the Associated Press in New York and asserted that "I have not accepted the secretaryship of the army today or accepted it for 60 days from now."

Patronage Warning Sounded By Truman

WASHINGTON—(AP) — President Truman indicated today that patronage may be withheld from members of congress who refuse to support legislation carrying out the party platform.

Discussing yesterday's conference with democratic party and congressional leaders, the president said that democrats are those people who support the democratic platfrom.

He described the platform as the law of the party.

Mr. Truman said he regards the vote on the pending bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act as one of those tests of party loyalty.

Support of the platform should carry through after the election as well as during the campaign, the president said. He added that he stands squarely behind the platform and expects other loyal democrats to do likewise.

The platform contains a democratic pledge to support the enactment of civil rights legislation. Southern opposition to Mr. Truman's proposals for anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-job discrimination split the party wide open in the last campaign.

Mr. Truman's news conference statement left a question on just how much say on federal jobs will be given to congressmen who jumped the reservation last fall.

The president was asked if patronage will be denied to members of congress who gave support to the Thurmond-Wright states' rights ticket.

Wait And See, He Advises.

Just wait and see how the thing works out, the president said, adding that he thinks the question will answer itself as time goes on.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath told reporters after a conference with the president yesterday that jobs will be denied to persons who opposed Mr. Truman in the general election campaign or who made nasty remarks in public about the president in connection with his civil rights program.

McGrath said, however, that members of congress will continue to handle patronage regardless of how they vote on the president's program in the senate and house.

The Most Novel

We are still pioneering in the field of conservation, it would appear, from the comment upon a speech made by Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska, which appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune Monday, the Bible of the republican party along the Atlantic seaboard.

"The governor," the New York Herald-Tribune said, "spoke with the forthrightness we expect from his native midwest...He struck the note which the republican party needs to hear, and which in its best seasons has come to it like a strengthening wind from across the continent.

"...Among the specific examples of the new functions which government must undertake, the most interested and the most novel to easterners was Governor Peterson's discussion of the immense resource conservation and development program now going forward in the Missouri basin. He described this work as the greatest of its kind in the history of the world, with nothing comparable to it anywhere except possibly the Russian development being carried on, in the Volga river. Over an area covering 530 thousand square miles, land reclamation, flood control and power development is being achieved..."

This, may we suggest, is the most important development that has taken place in this region of the United States.

It stems from the great labors of the late Sen. George W. Norris. He, the late Theodore Roosevelt, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late Gifford Pinchot are the fathers of conservation in America, and of them all George Norris in courageous spirit contributed the most.

We are not concerned with the political interpretations placed upon Missouri basin development. Repeatedly we have said that we will not become involved in any quarrel between a Pick-Sloan plan or an MVA. The name by which it is called is so unimportant; the job itself, properly done and with dispatch, is all that counts. We are talking of a region that constitutes the remnants of the Louisiana purchases made by Jefferson. We are talking of the world's greatest breadbasket, its most dependable source of food. We are talking of an empire that has contributed so much to the real substance of the world.

If we can restore the fertility of its soil, if we can curb erosion and destructive floods, if we can store waste water, if we can encourage irrigation in an area of fickle rainfall, if we can generate cheap electricity, if we can put the waters of one of America's great rivers to more beneficial use, then to what more noble purpose may a government of and by the people dedicate itself?

This may be novel to Atlantic seaboard thought but this is bone and tissue of America, embodying the creative spirit, pushing an empire forward in its growth and development. If we bring industry to this midwest, if we increase its productivity, if we build stronger and better, then what greater contribution can we make to civilization?

Senator Carmody's Research Council

Senator Art Carmody of Trenton has a proposal for the Nebraska unicameral.

He suggests that all of the 43 members of the legislature should be called upon for research work between sessions.

Well, there should be no monopoly upon information in any legislative body. To get the most out of a legislature naturally the greater amount of time that can be devoted to study and research in the months between meetings, the better results should be.

No one except those actually serving within the legislature is able to express any judgment worth a snap of the fingers as to how valuable or valueless have been the labors of the Nebraska Legislative Research council. Their value starts with whether the members actually take the time to read the reports, together with recommendations made in the study of state problems. In between the last session and the present one the Nebraska Legislative Research council, working through sub-committee, conducted a series of studies, held hearings in various parts of the state, took testimony of a voluminous character, later gathered at the state house to reduce the evidence and to prepare recommendations.

As a matter of idle curiosity this question arises:

How many of the 43 members of the present legislature have read those reports and recommendations made by their subcommittees?

Every legislator is entitled to his own individual opinion.

He may agree or disagree with the recommendations made by the research subcommittee.

But at least he should take the time to read the report thoughtfully, and it would seem that in reading, the question would arise in his mind as to why the subcommittee reached the conclusion which it did. The legislator, it would seem, should want to find why. That, we fear, is one weakness. We doubt that the studies get the careful reading they deserve. Now every member of the present session may have gone through the council reports line by line and page by page, but unless they have the expense and the labor put into these findings is wasted.

Senator Carmody seems to feel that the inclusion of all the members of the legislature in research invites travel in the state, study of the state institutions, knowledge of conditions beyond the community in which the member resides, a broad-gauged view of the entire state. Nebraska is a big state, in all of its 77 thousand square miles, a varied state. If the proposal is to encourage legislators to inform themselves more fully upon Nebraska itself, then surely it is in the right direction.

Two Down, One To Go

Secretary Sullivan of the navy has joined Secretary Royall of the army in resigning. The immediate incidents associated with Secretary Sullivan's retirement, the "stir" kicked up by the navy's construction of a super aircraft carrier, the United States, is in itself incidental to the big battle in progress in Washington. First, Secretary Royall's resignation, now Secretary Sullivan's, may be taken as evidence that a lot of head cracking is in progress. The new secretary of defense, Louis Johnson, faced as he is with one of the toughest, most necessary jobs in Washington, is a man of unlimited energy, and with no inferiority complex when it comes to the brass hats. He intends to be the boss, and that, perhaps, is exactly the thing that is needed at this time. Only Air Secretary Symington remains of the original three heads of the defense branches, and he alone seems to have backed the "hard boiled" unification program in all particulars, although Secretary Royall testified in support of it before a congressional committee.

Not Too Distant Future

The conservative St. Louis Globe-Democrat discovers that its hardening arteries are warmed by Bob Taft's blunt, straight from the shoulder warning to his fellow republicans. Taft, so the Globe-Democrat says, painted the face of his Ohio colleague, Senator Bricker, a bit purple, and Senator Wherry almost passed out when the chairman of the republican policy committee told his associates they face further defeats at the polls unless they unite behind a sound program of social welfare. The conclusion Taft has reached is both clear and sound enough; the only stumbling block now is for such divergent elements as Taft, Bricker and Wherry, to agree upon what actually is sound. And that will take some time with both Bricker and Wherry potential presidential candidates.

OUR ANCIENT AMERICAN HERITAGE

"In one state legislature after another these fear-ridden zealots are tampering with and in some instances abbrogating the ancient American heritage of freedom. If they have their way, if the fear, the hysteria, the intolerance are not checked, we shall find that we have made ourselves over in the image of what we profess to abhor—a totalitarian state."—an extract from Mark Childs' most thoughtful column which appears in another spot on this page today.

What is it that is back of these fears which have echoed in so many of the state legislatures?

Do we distrust our neighbors? Do we suspect the few, or the many hundreds with whom we rub shoulders day after day? Have we lost faith in the American people have we lost faith in their devotion to American institutions of freedom, to the ancient heritage that through years of calm and storm have flourished and taken root in the soil which permits every man and every woman to think freely for themselves, to reach the decisions dictated by their conscience?

★

If we have, then that is sad. We can speak only for ourselves and in speaking for ourself we can voice only an unwavering belief in the decent purposes of the American people. When we walk down the street we fail to see in the shadows the lurking chilling figure of some conspirator plotting to overthrow the American government. We have to leave those spots in front of the eyes to our "nervous Nellies." Wherever we go, and with all of those to whom we may talk, we have yet to discern one who would substitute Russia's communism for America's capitalism. The American people are solid, substantial, intelligent, dependable, devoted to the framework of their liberties, and filled with reverence for the country of which they themselves are citizens.

★

America does not mean that individuals must agree with each other. It does not imply that different views are unacceptable. America is the melting pot of ideas, as well as the melting pot of human flesh. Liberty, in its richest essence, rests upon the right to disagree, with full respect and complete tolerance for conflicting ideas. Now these fear-ridden zealots are honest men, and the purpose that they would serve, sad as it is, out of keeping with democratic institutions, represents their honest if misguided hopes.

★

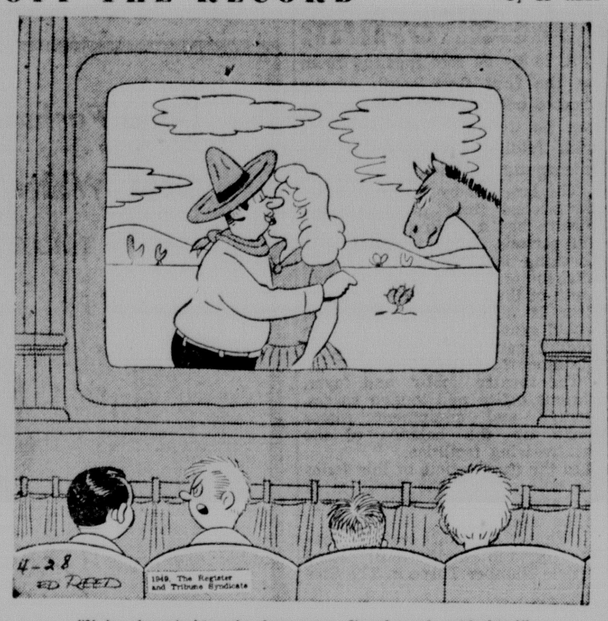

We know—it is a matter of common knowledge, that there is a small lunatic fringe in America. We all know that we have 'our crackpots.' And then we have our fear-ridden zealots—one fighting the other—one seeing in the other a frightful menace. They make so much noise shouting at each other that we lose sight of the great mass of sane, sensible Americans, steeped in ideals of liberty, filled with faith in their country, its people the millions going soberly about their work, tending to their business, performing their daily tasks, going and coming from homes which are their one bright haven, contributing to the richness and the strength of the fabric of American life.

★

All that we can say is a plague on both these noisy, disturbing, blinded, sometimes stupid groups. And so we would want to pass laws, based upon the mistaken conception that America's strength. America's strength wells from its printed in ink on a statute book. That isn't America's strength. Americas strength wells from its people, from their tolerance, from their patience, from the freedom of their mind, their voluntary devotion to democratic ideals. There may be communists in Nebraska but if they are we never have talked with one. But this tampering—in the more aggravated instances this abbrogation of the ancient American heritage of freedom—is, in our judgment, as dangerous to freedom as the so-called "cells of communism." A plague on both houses.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED

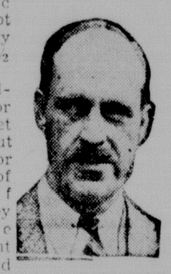

"If he doesn't kiss the horse too, I'm through with him!"

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Terse, urgent questions affecting our hopes for peace came boiling to the top the other day behind the closed doors of the senate foreign relations committee. Answering them, the men who must implement the North Atlantic pact were kept under steady fire for 4½ hours.

Big, bull-voiced Senator Vandenberg set the pace, but each senator got a load of questions off his chest. They combed the pact's fine print for pitfalls and loopholes, and searched for hidden meanings between the lines. As a result, many tough problems were plowed up.

• • •

The chief targets in this verbal shooting gallery were Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson and ECA Ambassador Harriman. They talked brilliantly, but not quite enough, to please the senators.

"I can't be offhand and free about information that involves other countries," Acheson retorted impatiently, when pressed for details.

Johnson also buttoned up during a barrage of questions on atomic energy from Senator McMahon of Connecticut. The queries were based on secret information which McMahon had learned at the Pentagon, and Johnson objected to going into detail in front of committee clerks. This caused McMahon to declare that he wouldn't support the pact if he couldn't get the information he wanted.

"If the price of the senator's vote," bristled Johnson, "is my violation of what I consider the security of the nation, then we may have to forego the senator's vote."

• • •

To add to the turmoil, the meeting was interrupted 13 times by roll-call votes on the senate floor. This kept the senators straggling up and down stairs to the senate floor until 71-year-old Senator George of Georgia finally snorted in disgust:

"By God, I can't go up and down those stairs any more!"

And he quit the meeting.

Another problem was how much to tell the press. Vandenberg was against issuing any release until the secretary of state formally presented the military program to congress. The Michigan republican warned, however, that "Drew Pearson has a dictaphone hidden in here."

Later, Chairman Tom Connally stamped angrily into the meeting after a trip upstairs to vote.

"Somebody has already leaked the amount (of the proposed military aid)," he thundered. "Some newspaperman told me the figure and asked if that was correct."

• • •

Following this incident, it was agreed to release an outline of the $1,130,000,000 plan to help rearm the North Atlantic treaty nations. Here are other highlights of the meeting.

Senator Vandenberg wanted to clarify the important question of whether the pact was just another old-fashioned military alliance or a genuine instrument of collective security. He pointed out that the U. N. charter recognizes the right of nations to "collective self-defense" in case of attack.

The charter, however, adds in article 51: "Measures taken by members (of the U. N.) in the exercise of this right of self-defense shall be immediately reported to the security council."

Does this mean, Vandenberg asked, that the treaty nations must report their secret defense plans to the security council—where Russia has easy access? This was something none of them wanted to do, but Senator Pepper of Florida warned that the pact, itself, promised to abide by the U. N. charter.

• • •

Secretary Acheson explained, however, that the only "measures" we are obliged to report to the security council are whatever measures may be taken jointly—after an armed attack occurs.

"What I want to know," chimed in Utah's scholarly Senator Elbert Thomas, "is what do you mean by the rearmament of Europe? One thing Europe knows how to do is arm. The idea of supplying arms seems archaic unless we give them our best bombs and techniques. But if we do that, I am against the whole program.

"The aim of the Atlantic pact is to bring about an atmosphere to make arms unecessary. If we are not going to teach the processes of peace, we may as well quit now, because the world knows all the processes of war."

Thomas also warned against building up a "United States Army of Europe." Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, on the other hand, argued that a composite army would be more effective than several miniature armies.

• • •

Another question, raised by several senators, was whether to furnish Europe with American-made arms or help the treaty nations manufacture their own arms. If the United States tries to produce all the armament needed for the allied world, the production and logistic problem, it was argued, would be terrific. But, on the other hand, plants built in Europe would be easy prey to the Russians and might be turned against us. No one had a ready answer for this.

Before Senator George walked out, he was in a negative mood toward anything that cost more money and warned that every move we made in Europe only implicated us deeper. Many senators were also angry with the arms program before the treaty is even ratified.

Acheson's reply was that the arms program was the only logical way of implementing the pact. Averell Harriman reported that the Marshall plan had saved Italy from disintegration and had stiffened the upper lip of other western nations. All they needed now was the arms, he declared, to make a strong stand against any aggressor.

Wealthy oil heiress Perle Mesta, social arbiter for the Trumans, will shortly be rewarded by an appointment as first lady ambassador to either Denmark or Luxembourg. (Mrs. Mesta used to be a republican.) . . . The joint chiefs of staff have decided to equip our western European allies with the famous M-1 Garand rifle. Reason behind the move: the U. S. has six million Garands in surplus and is planning to make a new, improved model for American troops . . . George Kennan, now chief of the State department's policy-planning staff, will be promoted to counselor, replacing Chip Bohlen, who moves to Paris. However, Kennan will continue his important job of trying to anticipate what the Russians will do next.

Orville Freeman of Minneapolis, Minn., state democratic chairman, reported to President Truman the other day that Minnesota is going democratic. Democratic strength has increased from 26 to 47 per cent, he said, while the G.O.P. has dropped from 47 to 23 per cent.

Freeman was introduced to the president by Minnesota's quick-moving Senator Hubert Humphrey, who boasted:

"Mr. Freeman is one democrat who was with you before you came into office, Mr. President. He is with you now that you are in office; and he will be with you as long as you stay in office."

"That," smiled Truman, "is refreshing."

THE LOST ASSET.

He took care of his money, for money is wealth,
But never once thought to take care of his health,
His bank account thrived, since he made sure of that,
But he never once thought he was getting too fat.

The future, he knew, would have gray in the skies,
To be ready for rainfall a man must be wise,
So to stack up the dollars he ceaselessly slaved,
Forgetting entirely that strength can be saved.

He did without sleep for the fortune desired;
Forced himself to keep on when his body had tired,
But he got little comfort from all of his wealth
When he found to obtain it he'd squandered his health

100 May Attend Rural Youth Camp

CURTIS, Neb.—(AP)—A state Rural Youth camp is expected to attract 100 high school age farm boys and girls to the University of Nebraska school of agriculture campus this week end.

School officials said the two-day camp will get under way Saturday. Guy Davis of Lincoln, state rural youth leader, will direct the camp.

GOVERNOR'S ROAD BILL.

Alexander, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Under the governor's road bill the thousands of school boys and girls, pushing their old jalopies through the mud of the off roads, will contribute a very large sum to build pavement for others to ride on by paying ten dollars a year instead of three for their annual licenses—just as much as the owner of a Rolls-Royce. Always they contribute in gas tax, twice as much to drive through a mile of mud as the wealthy play boy contributes to drive a mile of pavement. Maybe the governor's hidden purpose is to develop, in the boys and girls, the noble trait of unselfishness.

UNANSWERED QUESTION.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: For some reason you did not choose to answer our question about whether we should elect a who, when he was in the state legislature, recommended a bill for mercy deaths for old people over 60 years, to the city council?

ISAAC B. FLINT.
Director, Anti-Vice Assocaition.

NOTE: We did not answer or choose to print Mr. Flint's question because we do not know what he is talking about. We hope he does. A great many people have favored "mercy death" legislation. The Star does not, but it does not see where this issue is germane to a city election.

THESE YOUNGSTERS.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The conduct of the younger generation in this city is disgraceful. One cannot read your fine paper without coming across disturbing accounts of violence, destruction, vandalism, alcoholism and accidents caused by delinquent youngsters, who disregard common courtesy and rules of citizenship in their search for enjoyment, whatever the cost to others. The younger generation is truly going to the dogs. The kids are spoiled. They don't know the meaning of gainful employment; all they know is malicious destruction of property and enjoying themselves by acting like mobsters, using vile liquor and tobacco, driving recklessly with no regard for others—for it's these youngsters who cause many accidents. They are plain spoiled. They are given a car—they endanger life and limb with them. On the whole they don't have to work at all—they spend their time in lawless vandalism. They are uncontrolled. The only thing to do is to crack down on them. Take away the car. Make them come in at a reasonable hour. Above all put them to work. Remember the devil finds mischief for idle hands to do. When I was their age I went to school until 4:30 and worked until 10 — and kept out of trouble. This vandalism and smart-aleck attitude can be controlled by gainful work and the restoration of respect for elders and the fear of God. Take away excessive privileges and put them to work. C. S. A.

NOTE: There are many thousands of magnificent youngsters, industrious, thoughtful, mannerly. There are some ill-behaved, who furnish the basis for the correspondent's criticism. But it is so unfair to bring a blanket indictment against youth.

OPPOSES SALES TAX.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the letters' column April 26, a letter signed C. E. B. states, "Too large a group of citizens pays no tax at all."

This is not correct. The Chicago Journal of Commerce shows that according to the Foundation for Economic Education, hidden taxes take 20 cents of every income tax dollar. On a loaf of bread there are 53 hidden taxes, on a roast of beef, 127. On a cake of soap there are 154, and each gallon of gasoline is taxed 202 times. Each pair of shoes is taxed 502 times. According to an article in the American magazine, the cattle rancher pays 65 federal, state and local taxes, the feed lot operator 70, the slaughterhouse 63, the tannery 64, the manufacturer 69, the wholesaler 57 and the retailer 50. Thus we all pay taxes.

The sales tax hits the poor parents of large families. Most of the wealthy families have one or no children. But for the average or large family, getting the necessities of life, to say nothing of a higher education, is a grave problem in this period of inflation. I am opposed to a sales tax and to any further tax on property. Unless city, county and state officials consider the tax payer, grave results can be expected and soon.

FAIR LAND VALUE.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The article by Arch Donovan in Tuesday's Star: "State to Lose $5,000 School Land Leases"; follows the usual pattern of news items on this subject appearing in your paper. I wonder if sometime we couldn't have the problem presented clearly without such a definite effort to befog or prejudice the issue and without consideration of the facts. Had the writer of this article wanted to present a true picture, he would have said that the last hearings for taking testimony and receiving evidence as to the value of school land in Holt and Cherry counties were held a little more than a year ago. It is true there have been some economic changes since the last hearing, but most of these changes have been down, not up.

Cattle, the source of most of the revenue in these counties, have dropped considerably in price. I am not advocating reduce valuations of school land in these counties, but trends in prices during the past year, if followed closely by our land valuations, would more likely cause these valuations to drop than to raise the $5,000 which has been estimated. It follows that if the trend of relevant factors is down that the postponement of the hearing being discussed would mean a gain rather than a loss to the school funds. These points were mentioned at the board meeting which this article is supposed to report but for some reason or other this side of the picture is consistently overlooked in your articles. Another point I want to make is that the factors to be considered in arriving at school land valuations and rentals are ". . . the sale price of other lands in the counties, average crop production, rental value of other lands and other relevant factors bearing upon the valuations of such school land . . ." With cattle the main source of revenue, certainly the price of cattle is a relevant factor. It should be fully obvious that the waving of arms and decrying the need for our school children for better facilities are not factors in determining a fair appraised value of school land.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — As a weapon in the war of propaganda between east and west the so-called peace conference in Paris misfired. It misfired because the charges brought against the United States were so fantastic.

Marquis Childs

Howard Fast, the writer, a member of the American delegation, went further than almost any other speaker. He had the effrontery in this day and age to talk about Soviet Russia as the home of liberty and to say that a "terror" existed in this country striking down anyone who spoke about peace.

The Soviet delegates must have been startled at this eulogy. Even their own propagandists do not go so far as to claim liberty, in the western sense, for the Soviet citizen.

• • •

Here at home we are free to advocate peace, even the kind of peace that would mean the surrender of western Europe to communist control. If any proof is needed, it was supplied by the Waldorf-Astoria "peace conference" held in New York a month ago.

When this has been said, however, the observer who looks at the facts here at home must add to important qualification. There is in this country a noisy and persistent minority that seems determined to end our liberties. These people are apparently so ridden by fear and suspicion that they do not have faith in the common sense and good judgment of the American people.

• • •

In one state legislature after another these fear-ridden zealots are tampering with and in some instances abrogating the ancient American heritage of freedom. If they have their way, if the fear, the hysteria, the intolerance are not checked, we shall find that we have made ourselves over in the image of what we profess to abhor—the totalitarian state.

Out in Illinois a committee of the legislature is "investigating" the University of Chicago for subversive activities. The university is supported from private sources and not from taxes. It is well recognized as one of the great centers of learning in this country.

• • •

The legislative committee has gone to extraordinary lengths in what seems to be a deliberate attempt to persecute and intimidate. An irresponsible and unqualified witness was allowed to smear Prof. Harold C. Urey, one of the atomic scientists who did major work on atomic fission. Urey has been cleared by several top security agencies for continuing studies in nuclear fission.

"The policy of repression of ideas cannot work and never has worked," Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins told the committee. "The alternative to it is the long, difficult road of education. To this the American people have been committed. It requires patience and tolerance, even in the face of intense provocation. It requires faith in the principles and practices of democracy, faith that when the citizen understand all forms of government he will prefer democracy and that he will be a better citizen if he is convinced than he would be if he were coerced."

The Maryland legislature has passed a so-called anti-subversive law which, as the Washington Post pointed out editorially, might under strict interpretation of the law make it impossible to teach any political physosophy, even the principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence. Apparently fearing a free expression of the will of the voters, the legislature passed an amendment making the law effective immediately so that it would not be subject to petition for popular referendum.

Here is a sinister pattern repeated all too often in state after state. This country has grown great out of the free exchange of ideas and knowledge. That greatness can be destroyed unless those who believe in freedom, and I think that would include most Americans, now stand up and actively resist the fearmongers. . . .

• • •

In my opinion, a member of the communist party does not have an inherent right to teach in a tax-supported public institution. Communism in its basic belief advocates the overthrow of the present system and all its institutions.

But any law that seeks to prevent the teaching of a political belief or to make criminals of those who advocate a belief cut straight across the constiution with its great charter of liberties. This is not the issue at the University of Chicago. A few students belong to a communist study club and the fearmongers are behaving as though this rich and powerful nation were about to be undermined.

Closed Shop Method Of Leasing Hit

But Amendments To School Land Sale Bill Are Rejected

Adjournment of the Wednesday afternoon session of the legislature halted debate on a bill which would tighten up restrictions on the leasing of state school land.

Sen. N. F. Schroeder offered an amendment to the bill, which would require lease holders to live within 10 miles of the land which they would have to operate. It would prevent sub-leasing and assignment of leases. When better offers for leases are made the amendment would require competitive bidding.

The amendment was defeated with six supporting it, 15 opposing and 22 not voting.

Cites Lincoln Woman.

"I am disturbed by the 'closed shop' method of leasing school land," Schroeder said. "We must decide whether the land is to be operated for the benefit of the schools or for the benefit of the heirs of leaseholders."

Sen. Metzger called attention to a Lincoln widow whose sole source of income was sub-leasing land on which her husband held a school lease.

"Let us lease the school lands and take care of those in need of assistance from the proper sources," Schroeder said.

Sen. Ray Babcock, consistent foe of sale of school lands, had aided in preparing provisions of the bill which he contended would eliminate abuses in leasing of the land. The provisions would stop non-residents from holding leases and strike at "trafficking in leases" by providing that 50 per cent of profits on lease transfers go to the state.

Sen. Don Hanna, who holds school land leases, pointed out that the non-resident ban would be a blow to corporations outside the state that operate ranches under managers. He suggested that it could be improved by requiring that non-residents also own deeded land.

Tells Of Improvements.

"Under these provisions, it will revolutionize the whole ranch country," the Valentine solon said.

Sen. Frank Nelson, O'Neill, explained how he had improved a section of school land on which he has a lease and that it would be unfair to cause him to bid for renewal when the lease expires.

His remarks led Sen. Willard Wilson to question whether under constitutional provisions members of the legislature can hold school land leases.

When the Schroeder amendment was defeated, Sen. Clyde Cretsinger, who has a bill awaiting action that would provide for sale of the school land, offered an amendment to require all leases to have an option for sale with six months notification.

Sen. Wilson defended the amendment, when Sen. Babcock said it was a move to force sale of the land.

Wilson contended that most private leases provide that they can be cancelled if land is sold. "If the objections are corrected in this bill as is claimed, no legislature will want to sell the land and if they are not later legislatures can authorize sale," he argued.

"Lessees must realize they are renters and that the state owns this land," Sen. Bridenbaugh said. 'Why they should think they have a life lease and can pass it down to their heirs, I can't understand."

States Will Share Power On Fair Basis

...Says Peterson

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Nebraska's governor believes Missouri valley states will share power from dams along the Big Muddy on a population basis.

Val Peterson told a reporter that "I think the department of interior will work out a fair formula by which each valley state will get a fair and equable part of the power.

Under existing regulations, public power districts have first priority on electricity.

Rep. Case (R-SD) recently told the house that Nebraska, a public power state, is ready to draw off all the power from Fort Randall dam in South Dakota before that private power state's needs can be met.

"Hopeful" of Increase.

"I think all the states, including South Dakota, will get their just shares," Peterson said.

He said he was "hopeful" that the senate will increase the 1950 appropriation for Missouri basin projects.

Peterson called on Attorney General Tom Clark yesterday but declined to discuss the nature of his visit, although he termed it "one important reason" why he came to Washington. "The folk in Nebraska will understand why," he added.

He also has been conferring with valley state members of congress.

Youths Fined $175 For Strewing Road With Broken Glass

GERING, Neb. —(AP)— Fines totaling $175 have been assessed against two Mitchell high school students who were charged with strewing broken soft drink bottles along several miles of state highways near Mitchell.

The youths, Dwayne Osborne Thomas and James Hatch, both 18, were arrested Tuesday morning after a search by a safety patrolman. Patrolman Dale Justice said he followed the pair Monday night in a chase which reached a speed of 90 miles an hour until a tire on his car was punctured by the glass.

The youths live in Sioux county but are staying in Mitchell while attending school.

Many Marvels Of Science At Engineer Show

. . . N. U. Open House

Did you ever see:

A golf ball that shatters when dropped to the floor? Or a machine in which you can see your heart beat? Or a television broadcast? Or a model train that will obey your commands to start, stop and back up? Or a gadget that makes a rapidly whirling flywheel look like its standing still?

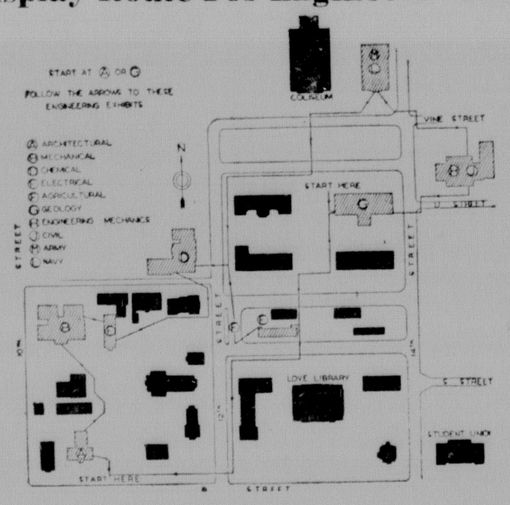

These and many other marvels of science and engineering will be on display at the University of Nebraska college of engineering and architecture annual "open house" Thursday from 1 p. m., to 11 p. m.

The "open house" was planned and built entirely by engineering students and it is free and open to the public.

In addition to the "magic" of sicence, there will be many more exhibits designed to show the teaching program of the college, and the problems which engineering has solved or is now struggling to solve.

These include easy to understand exhibits on the history of highway construction in Nebraska; the role of engineering in machines, electricity, irrigation, power and building for Nebraska's agriculture; the marvelous contribution of chemistry to better living; and exhibit on how houses should be built; the sonor which does for submarines what radar does for airplanes; the army's new 31 mm. recoiless shoulder rifle; and a model showing how oil is pumped from the earth.

Mission To Germany For Dr. Anderson

To Study University Teaching, Research For War Department

Dr. Eugene N. Anderson, professor of history at the University of Nebraska, has been selected by the war department in co-operation with the American Council of Learned Societies to make a special study of university teaching and research in Germany and Austria.

Dr. Anderson

He will leave for Washington early in May, spend about three months in Germany and will re-join the university staff this fall.

His study will be part of the effort to re-establish an exchange of personnel, research, and teaching data between American and German universities in the humanities. They include such subjects as history, literature, philosophy, languages, and the arts.

Fifth European Trip.

The program, Dr. Anderson said, is included in the general plan for re-education of the German people in democratic thinking. His report will be used by the American military government in Germany and by the society.

This will be Dr. Anderson's fifth trip to Europe. He was a member of a 12-member commission which visited Germany and outlined the general re-education policy shortly after the war. During the war, Dr. Anderson served with the office of strategic services and afterward with the state department. In his undergraduate days, Dr. Anderson studied at the University of Berlin for a year.

He became associated with the University of Nebraska in 1947 and previously was a staff member of the University of Chicago and the American University at Washington, D. C.

Chiang had 21 years of trying to unify the people and at the end he STILL looked like a republican trying to make Blair House.

Some think we should have taken over China's leaky sampan but it had 21 years of Chiang's porous patches on it and the Russians aren't going to be able to sail it north either.

And it should be remembered that we saved China from Japan and got stuck with Japan. Is there anyone would care to get stuck with Russia?

Of course, the China story reads true to form . . . The leaders got away safely and only people were left behind.

But, in the case of Consumers Public Power District, though publicly owned, not one cent of tax money goes into its financing or operation.

Consumers Public Power District is publicly owned in the respect that the people it serves are its sole owners and reap the benefits of its operation. Yet, it is entirely self-supporting, paying its way entirely from its earnings.

Operating on a non-profit basis, this state-wide public power system distributes its benefits to the electric users it serves, yet, pays taxes, like any other good citizen or business to support city, county and state functions and public schools.

Radio Network May Eliminate Power Trouble

Plan Announced By Consumers

COLUMBUS, Neb.—(AP)—The Consumers Public Power district today announced plans for installing its own radio communication network throughout its eastern system.

The move is aimed at getting around the type of storm and blizzard trouble which plagued the power system during the past winter.

The network would minimize service interruptions during storms and other emergencies when other forms of communication fail. It will enable crews to locate and report damage and arrange switching to other power sources.

Project Okayed.

Consumers district directors approved the project at a meeting this week.

The radio system will consist of 26 transmitter stations with 180 mobile units installed in trucks and cars. This will provide station to station, station to truck and truck to truck communication. Portable unidts also will be supplied for crew to truck or plane communication.

Under present plans, sending stations will be located in the areas of Valentine, Ainsworth, O'Neill, Hartington, Oakland, Norfolk, Albion, Columbus, Loup City, Kearney, Orleans, Grand Island, Superior, York, Lincoln, Beatrice, Humboldt, Spencer, Neligh, Fullerton, Belden, Scribner, Clay Center, Geneva, Seward and Plattsmouth.

Each station will be provided with an automatic suplemental power supply so that power will be available to operate the unit even when power lines are out of service.

A radio frequency has been applied for and the network is expected to be in operation by early fall.

Pinkett wrote:

"I am wholly convinced that Jake Bird is insane and should not be executed for the Tacoma slaying, but should be confined for the duration of his life to a hospital for the criminal insane."

U. S. Total Also Soars This Spring

Rye In Storage Below Last Year

Nebraska had 31,909,000 bushels of wheat stored in all positions April 1.

The state-federal bureau of agriculture statistics said this compared with 22,675,000 bushels a year ago. The Jan. 1, 1949, total was 49,850,000 bushels.

Farm stocks April 1 were 14,938,000 bushels against 16,254,000 a year before.

Off farm stocks included 5,863,000 bushels in interior mills, elevators and warehouses, 2,557,000 in merchant mills and the remainder in terminals and in transit.

Farm Rye Stocks Down.

The April 1 rye stock total was 540,000 bushels in all positions. Last year it was 731,000 bushels.

Farm stocks of rye this April 1 were 450,000 bushels as against 596,000 last year. Off farm stocks were 90,000 bushels as compared to 135,000 a year ago.

For the country as a whole the April 1 total of wheat was more than 576,000,000 bushels.

This was the highest for any time except on April 1 of 1942 and 1943.

The rye total was nearly 10,000,000, showing a gradual building up since the low of 5,000,000 bushels in 1947.

Seed Company's High Prices Are Hit By Swinbank

A seed company in Nebraska is charging exhorbitant prices for wheat seed by telling farmers the supply will be short for next fall's planting.

This charge was made Thursday by J. C. "Chet" Swinbank, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement association. He said the seed outfit already has overcharged some farmers in the southeastern part of the state and now is giving sales talks in northeastern Nebraska. Such a seed concern, said Swinbank, is not representative of the majority of companies who are performing good service.

Supply Plentiful.

Swinbank said it is not necessary for farmers to pay the exhorbitant price of more than seven dollars a bushel for wheat seed. He said there will be plenty of good certified seed in Nebraska when it is needed. The responsibility of getting good seed for farmers to plant, he added, lies with the NGIA and the Nebraska Crop Improvement association, and the recommended varieties of seed will be the only kind considered by the organization.

The association secretary said the farmer need not be fooled by some grain salesmen as to what variety is recommended for his area. The farmer, he said, always can consult extension circular 100 or contact his county agent.

Gableman Renamed President Rural Schoolboard Group

NORFOLK, Neb. — (AP) — Alfred Gabelman, Madison, yesterday was re-elected president of the Nebraska Rural Schoolboards association at its convention here.

Otto Ulrich, Winside, was chosen vice president, and Theodore Witt, Pender, secretary-treasurer.

State Supt. Wayne Reed discussed LB 27, 381 and 388, and proposed that the state superintendent and county superintendents be appointed instead of elected by ballot. He stressed state and federal aid for schools.

Gabelman told the group that boys and girls in Nebraska and other states should be taught the blessings of our form of government every day from the first grade through high school if the spread of communism is to be stopped.

Rent Decontrol Hearing May 16

HASTINGS, Neb. — A rent decontrol hearing has been scheduled here for May 16 by the city council.

Council members said they will take no action on the rent question until the hearing is held.

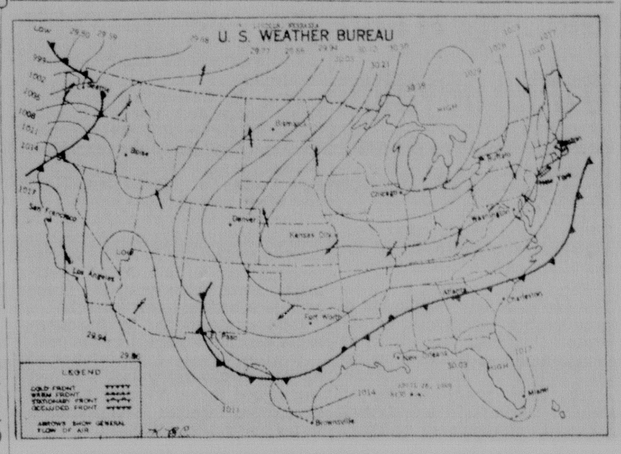

Edwin L. Stratton, apartment owner, requested council action toward removing controls in accordance with the new federal law permitting cities to do so, subject to the approval of the governor of the state.

The Adams county board of supervisors recently passed a resolution saying that federal control of rents was no longer needed here. L. T. Waterman, chairman of the area rent advisory board, has said that controls still are necessary in Hastings.

MRS. MARGARETHA DAMME.

BURR—Funeral services for Mrs. Margaretha Damme, 79, who died Monday at her home here, were held Thursday. Born at Granavillo, Ia., she was a member of the Methodist church. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Viola Genzlinger, Burr, Mrs. Minnie Ritter, Talmage; and Mrs. Rub Young, Hastings; a son, Fred, Burr; and two grandchildren.

Steam Plants Urged To Avert Power Shortage

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Miller (R-Neb) says a shortage of electric power in Nebraska can be averted only by the construction of more steam plants.

"Proposed Missouri valley power projects under the Pick-Sloan plan will supply only 25 per cent of the state's needs," Miller told a reporter. "Construction of new steam plants is the only answer."

Miller favored the Pick-Sloan plan over the Missouri valley authority proposal.

"I cannot see that a change of authority in the basin development plan would improve the power picture," he said, "and it would result in considerable confusion over existing water rights."

Miller expressed concern over the use of private loans by Nebraska publicly-owned electric producers.

Representatives of the Nebraska power districts and hydro-electric power producers now are negotiating for federal funds to finance an expansion program.

"Some of the hydros also have sought private loans," Miller said. "This could result in loss of public control to private banking interests."

Nebraska's power shortage, Miller said, has resulted in "lessening" the hydros' opposition to distribution of federal power under the Pick-Sloan plan.

$52,900 Sale At Curtis Sets New Real Estate Mark

CURTIS, Neb. — (AP) — Farm and city property of the late William Nutt of Curtis sold for a record $52,900 at a referee's sale here.

According to F. J. Schroeder, the referee, it was the largest amount ever involved in a real estate sale in the history of the county.

The property included 1,600 acres of Frontier county farm land, and five lots in the city of Curtis. The farm land averaged around $35.00 an acre.

The Nutt estate also includes 480 acres of Perkins county land, which will be sold at Grant on May 3.

DP Family Will Live In Pender

OMAHA—(AP) — Three displaced persons from Europe arrived in Omaha by train this morning to make their home in Nebraska.

They were Herbert Taube, his wife and five year old son, John. They lived originally in Latvia, later in Germany, and have been in a displaced persons camp for four years.

From Omaha, the Taubes were to go to Pender, Neb., where they will live on the Conrad Suhr farm. On hand to greet them here on their arrival from New York was the Rev. Walter Rowaldt of St. Marks Lutheran church at Pender.

The national Lutheran council arranged for the Taubes to come to this country.

Greyhound Employes Go On Strike

... ...8 States Affected

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A strike of 1,300 AFL employes of Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., today shut down 10,000 miles of bus routes serving some 1,000 communities in eight midwest states and Manitoba, Canada.

Company officials manned ticket windows and baggage rooms as station employes left their posts in the larger centers at midnight Wednesday. Drivers of buses on the highway were permitted to continue their runs to terminals. Union officials said the last of these was expected about noon today.

The walkout came less than three hours after a breakdown in negotiations over a wage dispute. Drivers seek a mileage rate of 6.5 cents against the present 6 cents, plus allowances for meals and making daily reports. The company has offered 6.35 cents per mile, which was rejected.

Ticket Refunds Made.

A. O. Olson, Northland vice-president, said supervisory personnel would man windows only long enough to make refunds to ticket holders and handle baggage already en route. After that, he reported, buses would be parked and the firm would not attempt to operate.

More than 100 passengers were caught at the Minneapolis terminal, awaiting buses scheduled to leave after the walkout began. Police Capt. W. E. Sonnesen said at least a dozen of these had only their tickets home and no funds.

S. C. Powers, Omaha, international vice president of the Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, said no further negotiation sessions were scheduled "although we are ready if the company has an offer." He said the strike was called because "Northland refused to meet rates and working conditions enjoyed by employes of other Greyhound companies connecting with Northland."

In addition to the 700 drivers, 600 non-operating personnel, such as mechanics and office workers, are affected in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Montana and Manitoba.

ALBERT EHLERS.

GRAND ISLAND—Funeral services for Albert Ehlers, 59, lifetime resident of Merrick county, were held Wednesday afternoon. He died Sunday in a local hospital. Surviving are his mother, Mrs Henry Ehlers, one sister, and one brother.

Beatrice Cows Win Awards For High Production

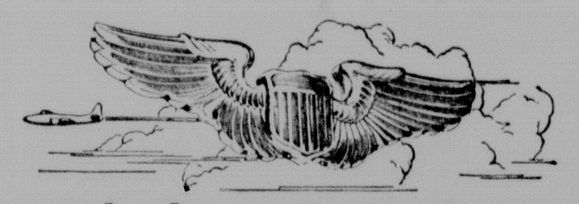

BEATRICE, Neb.—(AP)—Two Jersey cows owned by the A. A. Rhodes estate of Beatrice, have been awarded the ton of gold certificate by the American Jersey Cattle club.

The awards recognize their production over a period of four years. One of the pair had a record of 2,026 pounds of butterfat at six years and the other had a record of 2,095 pounds at five years. Their average production was more than 500 pounds per year, two and a half times the production of the average dairy cow in the United States.

Safety Work Must Have Tax Money

Employers Are Told At Chamber Meeting

No substantial progress has been made in accident prevention for industries since 1933.

That statement was made Thursday night by Roland P. Blake, principal safety engineer for the bureau of labor standards, before 65 employers and businessmen at the employers' safety dinner at the chamber of commerce.

Reporting on the recently concluded Presidents' Council on Industrial Safety at Washington, D. C., Blake traced the industrial accident record for the past 30 years.

He then made his point: State safety councils must be provided with funds to undertake a comprehensive accident prevention program. Only one group can provide such funds, Blake said, "the taxpayer."

He warned against the implications should such a program be undertaken on the national level. "People will think it is just bureaucratic expansion."

The fact that "85 per cent of all industrial accidents" happen under the small employer was cited by the labor standards' engineer. He said the small firm "simply does not understand or does not have the funds to undertake a safety program.

Accidents are very few in large industries where the firm understands the accident problem and can afford to carry out a safety campaign, Blake stated.

Need Capable Men.

For these reasons, Blake said, state safety councils must have high-paid and capable men to carry through the necessary program. He repeated that funds for such a program must come from the state legislature, but he said the amount needed is "so small that it is pitiful if you cannot secure it."

Three states have pioneered in industrial accident prevention according to Blake. "Their program has been outstandingly successful," he said.

Rhode Island, he said, has reduced their accident rate 36 per cent in four years. He cited it as an example of "what careful planning can do."

Oregon Accidents down.

Oregon has succeeded in reducing their accident rate 15 per cent in four years, but according to Blake, "the planning was almost haphazard, and could have been more successful had it been executed properly."

West Virginia was the third state which has pioneered in accident prevention for industry.

The best program, according to the engineer, is one working through the state safety council. This body would be the coordinating and promotion body for the program and it would work through the county and local councils.

Need Backing.

"But they cannot do the job without some backing," Blake reiterated. "Give them something to work with and they will save your state a great amount of money."

Blake's appearance in Lincoln was sponsored by the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council and the chamber of commerce. Special guests at the meeting were:

F. P. Tinker, director, Nebraska State Safety Council.

Jim Pittenger, administrative assistant to the governor.

John Lawler, president of the chamber of commerce.

Mayor Clarence Miles.

Mrs. C. M. Stewart of the board of directors of Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council.

Gifford D. Mullins, director of Lincoln-Larcaster Safety Council, who introduced Blake.

Promote 35 In Building Trade To Journeymen

Banquet Honors Group Completing 4 Years Of Apprenticeship

Thirty-five Lincoln men Wednesday night stepped from the ranks of apprentice to skilled journeymen.

The occasion was completion of apprenticeship ceremonies of the Lincoln building construction trades banquet at the Cornhusker hotel.

After four years on-the-job training, these 35 bricklayers, carpenters, electricians, painters, plumbers and pipefitters, and ironworkers, received their official journeymen cards.

The certificates were presented by the joint apprenticeship committee, which represents labor and employers equally. More than 300 persons attended the ceremonial dinner.

10 Year Backlog.

Guest speaker for the occasion was W. A. Klinger, Sioux City, Ia., past national president Associated General Contractors of America.

Klinger told the honorees they have a bright future. "There is a tremendous backlog in construction with which we have not begun to catch up," he said.

Klinger estimated that it would be 10 years before building construction would catch up with the housing demand.

"Never has a million homes been built in a year," Klinger said, "but we are making every effort to do it."

In reviewing the history of building construction, he said that "almost the total material wealth built up by the human race has emanated from the construction trades."

Second Leading Industry.

Construction is second only to agriculture in the U. S. he said. "The trade fills more pay envelopes each week than any other industry. The construction trade employs one of every seven employable males."

Klinger emphasized the "great asset" of having a trade. But he told the 35 men that "you did not learn it all just because you have served out your apprenticeship. There will be something new every day. That's what makes it interesting work."

The scarcity of skilled mechanics came in for some of Klinger's time. He said the average age of the mechanic was 56, "when it should be 36." "This is another field of great opportunity."

Although he urged the men to "be good union men" he did not hesitate to castigate certain infamous union practices. "Featherbedding" and jurisdictional strikes were those singled out.

Special guest was Carl W. Olson, representing Lincoln Members of American General Contractors. Mr. Olson introduced the joint apprenticeship committees.

Other guests were: Dr. Gilbert S. Willey, superintendent of Public Schools, Lincoln; Gordon Preble, President, Nebraska State Federation of Labor; Roy Green, dean of college of engineering, University of Nebraska.

Ira Giffin, representing Lincoln Building Trades Council, presented the certificates to the 35. William Stoner served as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

The new journeymen in the city are:

Bricklayers—Gerhard Aden, Clayton Hansen, Harry Hoffman, Joseph L. Kremlacek, Philip Delhay, Harry Wells, Joseph J. Zuerlein, Alvin Schneider, A. M. Delhay, Jr., Fred Law.

Introduction Bill To Alter Council O.K'd

The state legislature Wednesday by a vote of 30 to 0 approved the introduction of LB 540, which provides for changes in the structure of the state legislative council. The bill was set for public hearing before the government committee at 2 p. m. on May 4.

The bill, drawn up by Senator Carmody of Trenton, would include the entire membership of the legislature on the council.

The council now has sixteen members, chosen by the members from the respective congressional districts.

Under the Carmody bill, there would be an executive board consisting of the speaker, the chairman of the committee on committees and a council chairman chosen by the entire membership.

The council would be divided into nine-member committees by the executive board.

The council would meet not more than 60 days before a legislative session, nor less than 30 days before the session, to receive committee reports.

The council acts as an interim fact-finding body.

Seatons Buy Farm Magazine

DENVER—(AP)—Sale of the Western Farm Life magazine, a 50-year-old farm and ranch publication, to a group headed by the Seaton Publishing family of Kansas and Nebraska has been announced.

Fred A. Seaton of Hastings, Neb., completed the deal with W. S. Edmiston of Denver, president and founder of the magazine. Seaton represented his father, Fay Seaton of Manhattan, Kas., and other associates.

The price was not disclosed, although Western Farm Life is considered in Denver financial circles to be a half-million dollar enterprise. Final transfer of the property is scheduled for June 1.

Western Farm Life celebrated its 50th anniversary last fall and announced more recently that its circulation in eight intermountain states had reached 150,000.

Appointments By Governor Are Approved

Four appointments made by Governor Val Peterson were approved by the state legislature Wednesday after recommendation by the committee on committees.

Appointments approved were:

Nathan B. Pont, Stanton, as a member of the state liquor control commission for a term ending May 25, 1955.

Neil C. Vandemoer as state assistance director for a term to end Jan. 4, 1951.

H. J. Schwab, Scottsbluff, as a member of the state racing commission for a term ending March 30, 1953.

Formation Of Soil District Favored By Banner County

Banner county landowners have voted almost unanimously for the creation of a soil conservation district in that area, the state soil conservation committee said Wednesday. The vote was 105 to 4.

Banner county's district makes the 85th to be created in the state. Soil districts now include 99 per cent of Nebraska's farm and ranches and 95 per cent of the total land area. Tentatively, only two districts remain to organize. They are Perkins county and the land area comprising Grant and Hooker counties and the southwest corner of Cherry county.

The Big White Bar Goes Twice As Far

Peddler of Dreams

Chapter 4

There was a measure of excitement the next morning when they came to the first country road that swung away from the highway. It had been agreed before the start that Felicity was to lead the way and that Garrett would leave the choice of roads entirely to her.

The country through which they drove was beautiful, but the two trailers made heavy going of the narrow, winding road, and they had traveled a considerable distance before they saw a farmhouse ahead.

A woman appeared around the sorner of the house, wiping her hands on her faded gingham apron. Felicity got out of her car and went up the walk, slim and boyish in her navy-blue slacks and white shirt, its collar open at the throat, the sunlight glinting on her bare head.

"We have some books and magazines," she explained. "We'd like to exchange them for farm produce, if you have any you'd like to dispose of."

The woman stared, her sunbrowned face a picture of startled amazement. "Books? Magazines? Well, I don't reckon—" she began.

"Come down to the trailer and look at them. If you find something you like, we can arrange about the produce," suggested Felicity eagerly.

"Well, now, I've always wanted to see inside one o' them things," the woman admitted frankly.

Garrett was waiting with the sided door of his trailer open. The woman stepped inside and looked about her, as curious as a child. She marveled at the efficiency of the sleeping arrangements, the tiny stove, the ice-box; and, as she caught sight of the rows of books arranged on shelves across one whole side of the trailer, her eyes brightened and a hungry look came in them. She put out a work-roughened hand and touched a bright cover here and there.

Her hand lingered on a book. She drew it out, glanced at it, lost herself in it for a moment or two. Then the bright colors of a magazine jacket caught her eye and she lingered over that. Suddenly she looked up at Felicity and Garrett with something very like defiance in her eyes.

"It ain't as if I didn't do all the work of cannin' and preservin' and picklin'," she said, as though I got a right to the eggs and butter and milk, on account o' me raising the chickens and doin' all the milkin'."

In the end she went back up the path, her arms laden with books and magazines; and a little later she and Felicity came back down the path, carrying jars of canned vegetables and fruits, a basket of apples and eggs, a jar of milk and a pound of delicious-looking butter wrapped in oiled paper.

That afternoon, after being sharply rebuffed at a couple of places and ordered roughly to move on, they came to another ancient farmhouse where the pretty, bright-eyed daughter of the house welcomed them, and where once more they did a good stroke of business. The farmer, pleased with his pretty daughter's eagerness, readily agreed to permit them to camp for the night in the woods-lot a quarter of a mile from the house, and there Felicity cooked supper.

"It would be silly for you to do your own cooking, when we have plenty here for all of us," Felicity argued with Garrett.

The children adored him, and Garrett seemed to expand in their presence. After Jason and Felicity had put the others to bed, Garrett, Jason and Felicity sat on the steps in the moonlight and talked.

"See here, Felicity," Garrett said suddenly, "you folks are pretty crowded here. There are two bunks in my trailer, and obviously I can use only one. If I'm going to eat with you, why can't I share my trailer? Jay, why don't you move your traps over to my place, and we'll all be a lot more comfortable. And my car's a sedan with a lot of seat-space going to waste. Let the children ride with me in the daytime."

Felicity stared at him. "You are fond of children, aren't you?" she marveled frankly.

"Oh, I was cut out for a family man," he assured her. "Just a natural born pater familias, that's me!"

Felicity watched him go a little later, helping Jason move his rather scanty belongings to the other trailer. And she admitted that it was very nice, indeed, being partners with Garrett Forbes.

She got up finally, gave herself a little shake and went back into the trailer. She drew the curtains that shut off the sleeping space from the front of the trailer where the small dining table stood. She sat down, brought out a battered briefcase, drew out of it a great sheaf of manuscript, half a dozen neatly sharpened pencils and went happily to work.

This was Felicity's secret, known not even to the children. She had been at some pains to conceal it even from Jason. Having Jason share Garrett's trailer was going to make things easier in a lot of ways. Jason would be more comfortable, the family trailer would be less crowded — and Felicity would be able to work more easily at her play. For that was Felicity's secret; she was writing a play! Writing it gave her a great deal of pleasure. Her busy days were speeded up by her thoughts about the play; weaving bright, effective bits of dialogue as she washed dishes, mended small clothes, washed and ironed; achieving certain important stage effects. Being so deeply a child of the theater, it was not at all surprising that she should find release and pleasure in writing a play!

Familiarity Of Roads Threat To Safe Driving

Familiarity with roads they regularly travel is becoming a threat to the safety of the state's auto drivers, the Nebraska Safety council warned Thursday.

The council summed up the mounting cause of many accidents in this way: "Drivers in the state, after traveling over roads and streets man times have become so thoroughly familiar with them that they forget to be cautious and alert."

"The recently released 1948 accident study of the department of roads and irrigation shows eight out of 10 drivers involved in all collisions in Nebraska that year were within 25 miles of their homes," E. P. Tinker, jr., council executive director, stated. "In fatal accidents, the ratio was almost as high, with seven of 10 drivers living within the same radius of the accident scene."

Accidents are highly impersonal and may happen at any time and at any spot where contempt overrules caution, and "familiarity breeds contempt," the council concluded.

FEDERAL COURT FILINGS

Re: United States vs. United Army store, order dismissing case in accordance with provisions of stipulation and at defendant's costs.

C. of C. Directors Against Federal Health Program

Directors of the Lincoln chamber of commerce have taken an official stand against the proposed national compulsory health insurance bill, termed "socialized medicine" by some opponents, President John F. Lawlor announced Thursday.

"At our regular meeting Wednesday the directors voted to write President Truman and to all of Nebraska's congressmen and senators, stating that we feel the proposed legislation will lower, rather than raise, the medical facilities and standards in this country," Lawlor said.

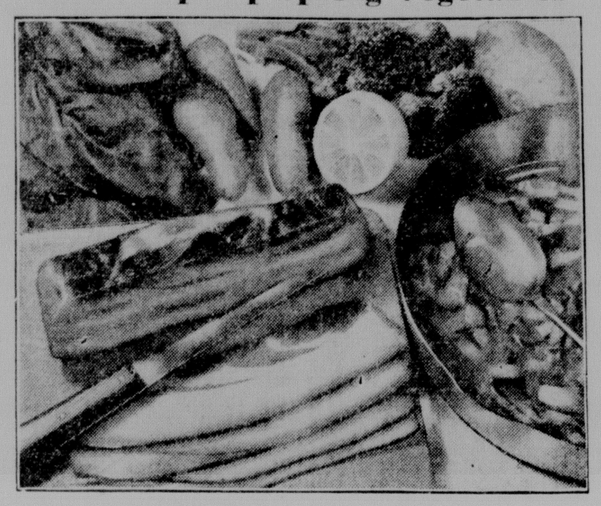

The chamber directors were told at their meeting that the United States now enjoys higher standards of health, medical care and scientific medical facilities than any other country in the world because of our free enterprise system; but that compulsory health insurance, wherever tried in the past, has lowered such standards.

Great Progress Being Made.

Those favoring the chamber's action also stated that wherever the government has assumed control of medical services, the result has been "tremendous multiplication of costs over original estimates, extreme tax burdens and national deficits, and the gradual extension of socialization into other activities of national life."

"Our members generally feel that great progress is being made in extending the advantages of hospital and medical service to more and more of our people through voluntary insurance, and that it would be wrong to adopt any form of compulsory health insurance or any system of political medicine designed for national bureaucratic control," Lawlor reported.

Bacon Peps-Up Spring Vegetables

Add pep and new life to your menu and serve vegetables gently blended with a pungent sweet-sour bacon dressing.

Made with economy pieces of bacon the dressing is a wise seasoning selection, for besides adding a zesty tang to abundant spring vegetables, it performs miracles with the budget. Known to you as "seasoning" bacon, these pieces of smoked and cured fine-flavored pork include jowl bacon, bacon squares and bacon butts. All may be purchased in the piece, ready for slicing or dicing for this flavorful dressing.

A year-around favorite using this dressing in hot potato salad in which the cubes of bland potato are combined in a pungent sweet-sour sauce made memorable with the addition of diced bacon slices. For maximum flavor and nutrition saving results, leave the jackets in place when cooking the potatoes and mix with the hot prepared bacon dressing only until blended. Then serve in a heated salad bowl along with crumbled pieces of crisp bacon sprinkled over the top as the main vegetable for an informal Saturday supper, or as part of a buffet service of cold cuts and sandwiches.

Combine with flavorful dressing with cooked spring vegetables such as spinach, turnip, beet and dandelion greens, or add the dressing to fresh salad greens as leaf and head lettuce, endive and watercress for an interesting flavor variation.

Try the same sweet-sour dressing with tomato juice for a different taste treat when temptingly combined with bland vegeables such as lima beans, young carrots and string beans.

Rev. E. R. Stolz Tells Of 6-State Lutheran Meeting

Rev. E. R. Stolz, pastor of the American Lutheran church, and Carl Loetterle have returned from the central district convention of the American Lutheran church attended by 257 pastors and lay delegates from a six-state area held at Clinton, Okla., April 22 to 26.

Dr. J. A. Dell, Capital Theological seminary at Columbus, O., spoke on the relation of the Lutheran church to the state, other denominations and of the American Lutheran church to other synodical groups of the Lutheran church.

Morals High.

Dr. Bell defended the participation of the Lutheran church at Amsterdam last summer and declared that a return to more conservative positions is very evident in most Christian denominations. He also favored a federation of all Lutheran synodical groups on sound Lutheran principles.

Dr. J. Bodensieck, who recently returned from a two-year stay in Germany as a representative of the National Lutheran council, reported that the conditions of Germany are still sad, but that return to Christianity is evident. He also asserted that German grils are as moral or more moral than American girls.

E. O. Gruber was elected to serve on the mission board of the district for a four-year term. Rev. C. H. Hinkhouse, formerly of Lincoln, was re-elected vice-president of the district for a one-year term.

In making a Spanish sauce for omelet add a pinch or two of sugar to the onions, green pepper and tomatoes to point up the flavor.

POUR TEA FOR MOM

MOTHER'S DAY TEA PARTY . . . Cookies and Corsages.

This suggestion is for teen-agers: Give your mothers a treat on Mother's Day. Join up with the daughters of your mother's friends and have a party — the guests of honor will get a big thrill out of being feted. The party doesn't have to be elaborate—just a simple tea with lots of delicious cookies. Daughters can buy the ingredients for the cookies out of their allowances and bake them in one or two kitchens.

As preparation for the party, make enough small corsages or boutonnieres of some pretty flowers in season so that each guest may have one. Arrange two pretty platters of cookies on a tray and place the corsages right on the tray as a decoration.

Two extra-special cooky recipes for spring are these Peek-A-Boo Cookies and Double Fudge Squares. Peek-A-Boo Cookies are an easy rolled cooky with jam or jelly peeking through a pretty design on the top layer. The jam stays put and bakes into the cookies just enough to permeate them with its sweetness and flavor.

Double Fudge Squares could easily take their name from their double goodness! But they are named for the double layer of chocolate—cooky on the bottom and frosting on the top, with a butterscotch cooky layer in the middle.

PEEK-A-BOO COOKIES

Ingredients: 2½ cups sifted enriched all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup shortening (must be at room temperature), 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, 2½ cups quick rolled oats (uncooked), ½ cup jelly or jam.

Method: Sift together flour, baking soda, and salt into mixing bowl. Add shortening, sugar and water and beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats. Roll dough very thin on lightly floured board; cut with floured cooky cutter. Cut a design with a smaller cutter or a sharp knife in half the cookies. Place plain cookies on lightly greased baking sheet. Top with a half teaspoon jelly and cover with a designed cooky, lightly pressing the edges together. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3½ dozen cookies.

DOUBLE FUDGE SQUARES

Ingredients: ¾ cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening (must be at room temperature), ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups quick rolled oats (uncooked), ¼ cup chopped nutmeats, 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate (melted), 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces (melted).

Method: Sift together flour, baking soda, and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugars, egg, water and vanilla. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats and nutmeats. Divide dough into two parts. To one part, add the melted unsweetened chocolate. Roll out the light part between two sheets of waxed paper to fit a 7 x 11 inch pan. Repeat using chocolate mixture. Chill in refrigerator at least one hour. Place chocolate portion in bottom of a greased 7 x 11 inch pan. Cover with light layer. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Spread with melted chocolate chips. Chill in refrigerator until chocolate hardens. Cut into squares. Makes 30 squares.

Hastings Council Okays Members Of Commission Board

HASTINGS, Neb.—(AP)—Hastings had a new civil service commission today.

Its members are Hal Lainson, H. J. Dunn and Ray L. Hart.

Nominated by Mayor Carl E. Pratt, sr., they were approved by the city council after the council accepted the resignations of the three prior board members. The prior members, Harry F. Russell, Dr. Floyd C. Sneller and W. E. Snyder, resigned in protest against the city council's changing the civil service ordinance so as to remove certain department heads, including the chief of police, from its jurisdiction.

Of the new civil service board members, Dunn is a real estate man and former councilman; Hart is a butcher and labor union official, and Lainson is vice-president and general manager of the Dutton-Lainson company and secretary of the Jaden Manufacturing company.

Dunn was named chairman of the board for a four year term.

Wesleyan Glee Club To Give Homecoming Concert Tonight

Nebraska Wesleyan university's 31-voice glee club will present its annual spring homecoming concert in the C. C. White auditorium on the campus at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Miss Mary Louise Holding, who joined the Wesleyan music faculty at the start of the second semester, will direct the group in a program of sacred and secular numbers, varied by piano and vocal solos, and selections by a girls trio.

Vocal soloists will include Jean Poyer, Grand Island soprano and Ramona Baxter, Arapahoe alto. Jackie Harrison, Alliance; Carol Wenger, Oberlin, Kan.; and Jean Hill, Lincoln, will form the girls trio. Genie Wallace, Ravenna, and Marcia Jones, York, will serve as accompanists and piano soloists. Ruth Lenhart, Palisade, will present several readings.

The glee club returned to the campus early this month from an 1,800 mile concert tour through Nebraska and Wyoming. The concert will be open to the public and a free will offering will be taken.

For an economy meal serve a fish chowder, a salad and a hearty dessert such as gingerbread and applesauce or cottage pudding with fruit sauce.

FARM WOMEN'S EXCHANGE

EDITED by CLARA BELL GRAVES

Address your letters to Mrs. Clara Bell Graves, editor The Lincoln Star Exchange, 905 N. Fifth St., Springfield, Ill.

This is the hardest piece of copy that I have had to write this whole year. It is housecleaning time. At one side of my typewriter is a clutter of books and rugs that do not belong and to the east of me are boards to climb over a partly finished floor. When the telephone rings, which it does every few minutes, I measure the width of the board and jump. Haven't missed a jump yet.

Cleaning Files.

It is cleaning time for files, and letters received during the past six months are dumped into a large incinerator and burned. But I have read every one of the thousands and know some of them by name. You would be surprised how good I am at remembering handwriting.

Easy Cleaning Habits.

But even at that, housecleaning in the home is easier today than in the days of our mothers and those of our grandmothers. Carpets had to be untacked and cleaned on a line with a beater and tacked again. Unless one's back was especially strong, it broke with the end of the day. Mattresses and pillows were thrown out of a window or down a stairway to air and loaded on backs and carried upstairs again. We enjoyed the freshness of the bed while tossing in our sleep from lame muscles and aching heads.

* * *

Plenty of Greeting Cards.

Mrs. Norma Sorrells, 318 Mt. Clair avenue, CMR 77, Peoria, Ill., who asked our readers for greeting cards so that she could paper a room with them writes, "I have been receiving cards from the states of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Nebraska. I also received many nice letters from the women who sent the cards. People have driven here from nearby small towns and have asked to see the room. Now I am trying to find someone who would like to paper a small room, for instance a child's room, done in Santas, bells and candles."

* * *

Side Wall Couches.

A studio couch that becomes a bed at night should be pushed against a wall, says a magazine article. A plaid comforter, rolled like a bolster pillow and placed against the wall, gives a new look to the couch and simulates a couch back.

Suppose that you have a couch in your bedroom to provide an extra bed for a guest. Put the bed as close to a wall as possible and place the couch along the adjoining wall. More space is thus left for the middle of the room. Perhaps there is room for a bridge lamp where couch and bed meet, end to end.

* * *

Fruit Pancakes.

Every housewife knows the value of fruit pancakes in a variety meal. But how many cooks have served pancakes as a dessert? A fruit cocktail advertisement suggests just this, draining the cocktail and making the batter, then mixing canned fruit and batter and frying in fat as usual. These pancakes are delicious.

One-Egg Cakes.

Every cook knows the value of a one-egg cake as a foundation for strawberry shortcake. Suppose that you have run out of cake flour and have pancake flour in the pantry, just use it and the shortcake turns out fine.

* * *

Money For Organization.

In the bulletin of recipes, "Money for Your Organization," is the recipe for the high-priced, rich dark cake that everybody wants, and the salad with the roasted nuts in it, also the old-fashioned nut spice pudding. Send 10 cents in coin and a 3-cent-stamped, addressed envelope.

IN THE MAIL

Apple Goodies.

Slice three cups of apples, cover with a mixture of one cup granulated sugar and one tablespoon flour. Put into a baking pan. Cover with the following mixture: Three-fourths cup flour, three-fourths cup brown sugar, three-fourths cup raw oatmeal, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder and one-third cup melted butter or margarine. Bake in a moderate oven until apples are done, about one hour.—Mrs. D. M. Sheets, Milford, Neb.

Editor's note: It would be my opinion that a few tablespoons of water would be necessary.

* * *

Plaster Filler.

Use white tissue paper, soaked in paste to fill holes in a plastered wall. You can mold it into a solid mass and after it is applied, smooth it down until even with the plaster.—Mrs. Will Umphres, 520 So. 50th St., Lincoln (8), Neb.

* * *

Sharpen Needles.

If sewing machine needles become blunt from heavy materials, stitch a few times through fine sandpaper and they will be sharp once more.—Mrs. Will Umphres, 520 So. 50th St., Lincoln, Neb.

I do want to use Mrs. Sheet's recipe and make some of her apple goodies. It sounds good with all the ingredients that go with apples. Our good friend, Mrs. Umphres, never writes a letter that she does not include either recipes or household hints for the good of the column.

Spare Tire Stolen

Mrs. L. C. Beldin, 1127 E street, reported to police that Tuesday or Wednesday a spare tire, wheel and tube valued at $30 were taken from her car.

Other thefts from autos reported to police:

Headlight shield valued at $1 taken from the car of Robert A. Helm, 6543 Platte.

Camera, flashlight and screwdriver, total value $6.25, taken from the car of H. F. Kieper, 541 North Twenty-second.

Weed Day Program

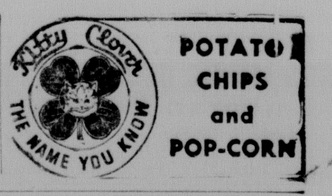

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—About 100 farmers attended a day-long weed day program here Wednesday. Leading the discussions were E. H. Aicher, chief of the state division of noxious weeds, his assistant, Logan Heusel, and Chet Swinback, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement association, all of Lincoln.

The smallest member of the flute family is the piccolo.

Fog Hides Eclipse

LONDON—(AP)—London was darker than usual this morning.

A partial eclipse of the sun darkened the city. Scientists at Greenwich observatory said they couldn't see the eclipse through the regular fog.

Catching Up On The News

OUR EXCURSION INTO THE PAST yesterday cost us a little in the way of time—So today we go back to where we left off day before yesterday, and bring everyone up to date on what's going on about town—

Have some parties for a bride-to-be—Miss Jean Bogan—Heard of some guests who were coming to attend a dinner party preceding the performance of "Harvey"—some guests who arrived today to remain until Saturday—a visitor who really is a homecomer—and some other interesting matters—

• • •

OUR THURSDAY - TO - SATURDAY visitors are Mrs. Vin J. Moore of Boulder, Colo., and Mrs. J. P. Shumate of Topeka, Kans., who arrived this morning to be the house guests of Mrs. B. F. Sheehan.

Complimenting Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Shumate, Mrs. Sheehan was a luncheon hostess today at the Lincoln Country club. Twelve guests were invited for the luncheon and remained at the club for an afternoon of bridge.

• • •

LAST EVENING (WEDNESDAY) Mrs. L. L. Campbell entertained at a mother-daughter party honoring Miss Jean Bogan, whose marriage to Richard Allen Bloom will be an event of Tuesday, June 7. Mrs. Campbell invited twelve guests for bridge and a miscellaneous shower for the bride-to-be.

• • •

AND LAST WEEK, WEDNESDAY—Miss Bogan was an honoree when Mrs. H. J. Galloway was hostess at a surprise kitchen shower and informal party. Eight guests were invited.

• • •

HEAR THAT MRS. ROLAND MAX ANDERSON, who spent Easter week in Denver as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Anderson, jr., is spending a few days in Lincoln before driving south to spend several weeks. During her stay in Lincoln Mrs. Anderson is the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lauer Ward. On Wednesday morning Mrs. Carl Olson entertained a group of friends at a "coffee" honoring her sister.

• • •

A VERY IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT came from Minneapolis on Wednesday—It had to do with the arrival of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McIvor Steiner on Wednesday, April 27. Mrs. Steiner, as everyone knows, is the former Harriet Talbot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Talbot who, incidentally, now are in Minneapolis.

• • •

THE "BEFORE 'HARVEY'" dinner that we mentioned earlier will have Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Philbrick as host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Philbrick have invited twenty-three guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Ivan C. Riley of Fairbury, to dine at the University club preceding the performance.

• • •

MEMBERS OF THE SUB-DEB set already are making summer plans—Miss Nan Carlson and Miss Suzanne Swingle, for instance, are counting the days until late June when both will leave for Camp Danworthy, near Walker, Minn., for their first taste of summer camp life. They plan to remain at camp four weeks. Both Nan and Suzanne enter junior high school in the autumn.

• • •

IN THE COLLEGE SET news today we have some information concerning Miss Phyllis Maurer, senior at the University of Nebraska. Mademoiselle tells us that Miss Maurer has been selected to represent the University of Nebraska at Mademoiselle magazine's sixth annual college forum, to be held on Saturday, April 30, at the Commodore hotel, New York City. Miss Maurer, so Mademoiselle says, "will be one of fifty-five outstanding coeds from leading American colleges and universities, who will be brought to New York for the all-day conference on 'Freedom and Security,' with educators, newspaper men and other authorities.

• • •

WHILE ON COLLEGE news—there is Miss Barbara Ebright, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oak W. Ebright of Lincoln, who has been elected secretary of the St. Olaf college student body, according to word from St. Olaf's. Miss Ebright, so we hear, was chosen an officer of a student body of 1,700, on the basis of her scholarship and past activities. She has been president of her dormitory, a member of the Women's Senate, chairman of many committees, and a reporter for the campus weekly paper at St. Olaf's, where she is a junior.

• • •

ANOTHER BIT OF activity missed telling yesterday has to to do with the usual ladies' day Tuesday at Hillcrest club—In the morning golf events—blind bogeys by flights—for which forty-five feminine golfers turned out, Mrs. Ed Johnson won by a tie over Mrs. Ed Raasch and Mrs. Bernie Anderson in the championship flight. Mrs. W. W. Lambert was the winner in the president's flight, and Mrs. J. L. Messer in the secretary's flight.

In the afternoon bridge games high score was made by Mrs. Stanley Wrobleski, with Mrs Vic Sloan in second high place, and Mrs. George Towne with low.

• • •

Hearing On Decontrol Bill May 4

Introduction Of Rent Measure Is Approved 32 To 3

With three dissenting votes based on the propriety of congress "shifting its responsibility to the states," the legislature Wednesday voted to consider a bill that would eliminate rent controls on Nov. 1.

Public hearing on the measure will be given on May 4 before the government committee.

Sen. John McKnight, chairman of the judiciary committee, offered the bill, which the committee sponsored, to the legislature. Sen. John Adams offered a protest to the committee action in informing newspapers on the committee vote.

Sen. Adams called attention to newspaper reports that there were no negative votes on the bill in committee and said that he had opposed sponsoring the bill.

Sen. Benesch explained that while he favors local option, he could not support the bill because congress is "playing politics by shifting the responsibility to the states."

Sen. John Adams said, "I don't believe we should accommodate the politicians in Washington, who already have lost the respect of their own parties.

"How, I challenge you, can the state legislature decree now that rent controls will not be needed in six months?"

Sen. Arthur Carmody suggested that a public hearing on the bill would be proper "so that the people may have their day in court."

Sen. Victor Anderson of Lincoln joined with Benesch and Adams in voting against accepting the bill. Thirty-two senators voted to accept it.

Reed Urges Farmers To Save Topsoil

...By Conservation

Frank W. Reed, chairman of the Nebraska Production and Marketing Administration committee issued a reminder today that poor handling of topsoil can bring back the "dust bowls" of the '30s.

He said there are indications that farmers have forgotten the dust storms of a few years ago and what can happen to soil when humus and clods are worked out of it.

He warned that dry weather and winds may come up any time and that the best way to avoid that "gone with the wind" regret is to keep the land protected with conservation practices which tie down the soil.

Over Planting.

"Good crops and high prices have led farmers to take daring chances with the topsoil of millions of acres," he said.

He pointed out that farmers are aware of the danger resulting from plowing up too much sod and cropping the land year after year without a return to a crop that will build up the humus. "The wheat land taken out of brush and grass for a year or two is held together by the roots and vegetation that has been plowed under," he said, "but year after year of cropping, especially if straw is burned, leaves the soil broken up into fine particles."

As long as the soil is protected by a growing crop it may be reasonably safe but after it is plowed or worked down with harrows or weeders, it becomes a "blow hazard" which threatens not only the land in this condtion but adjoining land as well.

Reed points out that the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance to farmers for practices which protect the land against blowing.

Practices designed to give effective protection against wind erosion include: Field strip cropping, working crop residues into the surface layer of the soil instead of turning them under, subsoiling to bring up clods that will hold the soil, establishing a perennial vegetative cover such as crested wheatgrass, clover, or alfalfa, and protecting the land with a surface mulch.

Throw Rugs Taken—Mrs. John Wagner, 1009 G street, told police that seven throw rugs, valued at $50, were taken from her front porch Tuesday night. She had hung all the rugs on the porch railing overnight.

FLEMING IS GIVEN A NEW POST

PUBLIC WORKS BOSS WILL BE HEAD OF MARITIME BODY

WASHINGTON—(AP) — President Truman today appointed Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming to the maritime commission. He said Fleming will be designated as chairman.

The president said that Jesse Larson, now war assets administrator, will succeed Fleming as public works administrator. Rear Adm. Paul Luker Mather, now associate administrator, will head the war assets administration.

Fleming is a veteran government career officer. Mr. Truman described him as an independent with no political affiliation.

On the maritime commission, Fleming will succeed Vice Adm. William W. Smith whose term recently expired.

More than two-thirds of Spains land area is either arid or semi-arid, and part of the rest is too mountainous for cultivation.

Keep Selves Well Informed Women Told

...By Y. W. Officer

Speaking to more than 100 women at the Y.W.C.A., Wednesday night, Mrs. Bartlett Heard of Berkeley, Calif., vice president of the Y.W.C.A., in the United States, urged Lincoln women to "keep yourselves well informed."

She told the women to "give a feeling of belonging" to new persons coming into the community. Picking out "G. I. wives," Mrs. Heard said this is an "excellent place to start."

"Not only will we strengthen our organization that way, but we will profit immeasurably in personal relationships in return."

Cites Experience.

Mrs. Heard is on tour of the country pushing the theme of "National Y.W.C.A. Week."

Citing personal experiences to illustrate her points, Mrs. Heard outlined the work of the Y.W.C.A., on the national level. Also, she emphasized that the organization is not restricted to the nation. She said it is organized in 69 countries, and "in that respect is bigger than the United Nations."

"For that reason," Mrs. Heard said, "whatever happens in any part of the world directly effects the Y.W.C.A." She pointed out that the organization now has a membership of "over three million."

Her appearance was sponsored by the membership committee of the Y.W.C.A., in charge of Mrs. G. S. Willey. Mrs. Vance Traphagen, president of the Y.W.C.A., presided.

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, Eng. —(AP)—The way the policeman told it, it sounded like that act the clowns do in the circus. He stopped a taxicab because three girls were riding in front with the driver. Then, 14 other girls emerged from the rear part of the cab. The judge fined the river two francs ($8) for wilful misconduct endangering life and limb.

Foot-Weary Postman Is Jailed; Failed To Deliver 5,000 Letters

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Postman William E. Lilley, jr., 46, is recovering today from the mailman's traditional sore feet—but in jail.

Postal inspectors said they found nearly 5,000 unopened—and undelivered—letters in Lilley's apartment.

Arraigned yesterday on a charge of delaying mail, Lilley, a postman for 20 years, explained:

"I would just get tired and take some of the letters home. I never opened any and I fully intended to deliver them—in the due course of time."

Nine Home Ec Students At N.U. Honored

...By Dietetics Group

Nine University of Nebraska home economics students were honored Wednesday night by the Lincoln Institution Directors and Dietetics association at the Lincoln hotel.

The occasion was the annual dinner sponsored by the association for home economics seniors majoring in institution administration and hospital dietetics.

Guest speaker was City Councilwoman Fern Hubbard Orme. Mrs. Orme challenged the seniors to "be a human sparkplug in your community."

"What is needed," Mrs. Orme said, "is not only an idea, but a person who can make that idea click."

"Woman's Position Strong."

The city councilwoman reminded the seniors that "not since the ratification of the 19th amendment has woman's position been so strong."

She cited "increased earning power, and an all-around education" among a large number of women as reasons for the strength today.

Miss Anna Smrha, nutritionist with the state health department and president of the association, presided. Miss Josephine Brooks, acting head of the food nutrition division of the home economics division at the university, was in charge of the dinner.

The nine seniors honored were:

Marjorie Barney	Jacquelyn Ochsner
Margaret Foley	Wauneta Smith
Marjorie Mahr	Shirley Wendt

Glad To Help Out

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—Decatur firemen, says Fireman Henry Stuke, are tops.

Stuke became ill last fall. He had six minor and one major operation. He missed 71 days of work.

On Dec. 18 his sick leave expired and he was removed from the payroll. That's when his pals went to work. For four months, fellow firemen took turns working for him on their days off. Stuke remained on the payroll and didn't miss a pay check.

Now Stuke is back at work. The firemen aren't seeking praise. It could happen to anyone, they said, and they were glad to help out.

Lincoln's Final Copy Gettysburg Address Is Sold

...For $54,000

NEW YORK—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln's final copy of his Gettysburg address was sold last night for $54,000 to Oscar B. Cintas, a retired Havana Cuba, business man.

The manuscript, on three sheets of ordinary blue-lined paper, was penned by Lincoln some time after he made the address in November, 1863.

It was sold at auction at the Parke-Bernet galleries which called the manuscript "the most important American historical document ever offered for public sale in this country."

The galleries said four other copies of the famous address are in existence, but the one sold last night is the only one signed, dated and titled by Lincoln.

WILLIAM L. WALKER
for Mayor

Knows what is required to operate an economical and efficient city government on a reasonable tax program.

MR. WALKER PLEDGES:

1. A fair deal for the small, overburdened taxpayers.
2. That the Bus Company should be required to give better service.
3. That City ordinances and regulations will be fairly enforced (Directors should put in full time or be removed).
4. That utilities should be required to pay fair occupation tax.

Mr. Walker believes that a reduction can be made in electricity and gas. (Fremont has lower electric rates than Lincoln).

NU Honors Ex-Coach

...Henry Schulte

One of the features of the Big Seven Track and Field Championships here May 20-21 will be the dedication of the Field House as the Henry Schulte Memorial.

The ceremonies will be held prior to the running of the final event Saturday afternoon, May 21. Frederick Ware, managing editor of the Omaha World-Herald and a close friend of the late Coach Schulte, will make the dedicatory address as a plaque is unveiled.

Coach Schulte was a member of the University of Nebraska staff from 1919 until his retirement in 1938. He died in 1944.

During his tenure, Coach Schulte was credited with one of the greatest "missionary" jobs ever accomplished at Nebraska. It was through his efforts that track became a major sport in every sense. He also assisted in football under coaches Fred Dawson and D. X. Bible.

He helped weld some of Nebraska's greatest lines, comparable to the forward walls of the University of Michigan's "point-a-minute" teams with which Schulte played as an undergraduate.

The Innocents, men's senior honorary at the University of Nebraska, began laying the groundwork for this dedication a year ago. They, along with the Corncobs and Tassels, (University pep groups), and the Cornhusker band will participate in the ceremony.

A bound volume of letters from associates and friends of coach Schulte will be sent to Mrs. Schulte by the Innocents. Individuals who wish to submit letters for the volume are required to send them to the Innocents Society, Student Union, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Links Try Viking '9'

...In Home Game

Still trying for its first victory, the Lincoln high baseball team will entertain the tough Omaha North Vikings Friday afternoon at Muny field.

The Links bowed to Omaha Central earlier this week and lost to Boys Town, Omaha South and Omaha Tech in previous weeks.

Unreliable pitching has been a bother for Coach Sam Hale's club. Bob King turned in a fine performance for five innings Monday against Central, then weakened to allow the Eagles to win.

North lost a 1-0 extra inning game to South Tuesday in its first Omaha City league game. The Vikes had a game Thursday afternoon against Tech before their Lincoln visit.

The eastern teams of the American association, forsaking night baseball temporarily, got out in the chilly midwestern sunshine for day games Thursday in the west end of the circuit.

The four western clubs — St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Kansas City—were shooting for new attendance figures to pass that of Columbus. The Red Birds drew 14,066 fans for its opening game this season.

Grand Island Man Gets Satch's Auto

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—Leroy Satchell Paige, the venerable Negro pitcher, may belong to the Cleveland Indians of the American league but the car he used to drive belongs to a Grand Island man, Thomas F. Michaels.

Michaels didn't know of the Paige connection until he went to the office of County Clerk Walter Loescher to get his Nebraska title. The original title disclosed the car was sold to Paige May 28, 1948. Michael, who travels for a Kansas City, Mo., firm, bought it in Kansas City last month.

The car is a 1942 Cadillac.

Veteran Golfer Reaches Semi's

...North And South

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP) — While the younger stars have been drawing the headlines, veteran Estelle Lawson Page has moved along almost unobserved in the 47th North and South Women's golf tournament.

Thursday the 40-year-old Chapel Hill housewife teed off against Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, in the semi-finals with at least an even chance of gaining the championship round for the ninth time.

From the match will come an opponent Friday for the survivor of the day's other semi-final pairing—Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn. vs Marjorie Lindsay, of Decatur, Ill.

Mrs. Page, a former national champion, who has won this event seven times, has played good golf this week. In both rounds she has had the day's most one-sided victory.

Her victim Wednesday was young Mae Murray, Vermont titleholder from Rutland. Mrs. Page was one under par in notching a 5 and 4 quarter-finals triumph. She lost only one hole all day.

New Winners At Drake

LITTLE CHANCE FOR DEFENDING RELAY KINGS TO REPEAT; KEHL TO MISS TRIP

DES MOINES—(AP)—An entire new set of champions will parade to the victory stand in the university section of the Drake relays.

Only the speedy Texas A. and M. mile team will be back to defend a university relays title Friday and Saturday. And the Aggies may be dethroned in a race in which Michigan State and Missouri are given good chances of winning.

The University of Texas, its squad riddled by injuries, isn't able to try for repeat championships in the 400, 880, the distance medley and the four mile relays.

Ohio State, winner of two-mile and sprint medley events last year, will shoot for the Penn relays titles. Missouri, gifted with speed this spring in the 880 and mile races, won't seek another title in the 480-yard shuttle high hurdle relays.

SPARTANS BID

That leaves it up to the Aggies. They won last year in 3:15.2 and have done 3:17.1 this year. But Missouri won the mile at the Kansas games in 3:16.5 and Michigan State, with Jack Dianetti running anchor leg, is a popular pick.

In fact, Michigan State is coming here with ideas about several championships.

The Spartans expect to flirt, and possibly make a date, with American records in the two-mile and four-mile relays.

They're also listed among the favorites in the sprint medley and distance medley, both of which will be run tomorrow.

Three finals in individual events will be held on opening day the two-mile run the discus and the broad jump.

Don Gehrmann, Wisconsin ace, will be the favorite if he is a starter. The Badger may be withheld for duty on anchor legs of relay teams.

Byrl Thompson, Minnesota sophomore, and George Kadera of Texas A. & M. are rated top contenders in the discus. Thompson has a mark of 169 feet, 2⅝ inches and Kadera has done 169-2. The Drake record is 165.5.

Fred Johnson of Michigan State has a mark of 25 feet 4¾ inches in the broad jump. Defending Champion George Kailas of Wisconsin, did 24.2 to win in 1948.

The opening day has 13 events, including six finals for universities and colleges.

HUSKER LOSSES.

Nebraska's 18-man squad will be without the services of two notables. Sprinter Dick Hutton and Vaulter Leonard Kehl will be left at home. Hutton has been bothered by a stomach disorder. Kehl has had trouble hitting his stride outdoors after winning the Big Seven indoor title.

Bill Hein, Alliance, will replace Hutton in the 440-yard relay team. Don Vollertsen, Talmage, will run for Hutton in the 880-yard quartet. Fritz Ware, Al Thompson and Harry Meginnis will be other runners on the sprint relay teams.

Huskers competing in finals Friday will be Esref Aydin in the two-mile, Wayne Sees and Jim McConnell in the discus, and the sprint medley relay team.

Loyal Hurlbert, Meginnis, Thompson and Harold Kopf comprise the sprint medley lineup.

DAVIS CUP BOSS NAMED

NEW YORK—(INS)—Davis Cup tennis in America had a new chairman Thursday in a move that seemed to end the era of "old school tie" control.

The newcomer is Lt. Col. James H. Bishop, of Culver Military Academy, named to head the important cup selection committee as successor to Jones W. Mersereau, New York.

RILEY ADVANCES

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., led the field into Thursday's quarterfinals of the Women's Southern golf tournament at New Orleans with a 7-and-6 win over Mrs. G. T. Schneider of New Orleans.

The defending champion was joined by favorites Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Margaret Gunther of Memphis, who are paired in Thursday's matches.

SOUTHERN CAL SIGNS TIGER

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Harry (Blackjack) Smith, now an assistant grid coach at Missouri, Wednesday night was named freshman coach for the University of Southern California, his alma mater.

Athletic Director Willis O. Hunter made the announcement. Smith, star guard of the Trojan conference champion teams of 1938-39, succeeds Jess Hill, who is the new head track and field coach at the university.

ARMY-NAVY SITE FIXED

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Mayor Bernard Samuel Wednesday announced that the 1949 Army-Navy football game will be played in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

The mayor's announcement put a quietus on reports that the football classic might be played in some other city this year.

PURDUE MARK FALLS

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — (INS) — Fred Wampler must be slipping.

The ace Purdue golfer, individual champion of the Western conference, had only a one-over-par 72 during the afternoon phase of Purdue's 29½ to 6½ victory over Illinois Wednesday.

But then, there was Wampler's morning round to consider:

He had an unbelievable 63, eight under par and good enough to crack the competitive course record by four strokes!

Pitch Hurts Rojek

Injuries Overshadow Scores In Majors

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

INJURIES to Stan Rojek, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau, all key men in the major league pennant races, overshadow the scores in Thursday's baseball news.

Rojek's injury may be the most important. If the Pittsburgh shortstop, the "hustle guy" of Bill Meyer's infield, is lost for any appreciable time, the Pirates' pennant hopes go a glimmering.

Lou Boudreau

A pitched ball by Ken Johnson, fifth St. Louis pitcher, struck Rojek near the left eye in the ninth inning Wednesday night at Sportsman's park. He walked a short distance and collapsed just as teammates reached him.

Early reports from the hospital indicated that no fracture was found.

The incident took most of the zing out of the Pirates' 7-1 victory over the Cardinals. It should have been a big night for the Pirates because Murry Dickson, the ex-Cardinal who was purchased for $125,000 last winter, faced his old mates for the first time.

Dickson, pitching like a man with a mission, was given a nice cushion in the first inning when the Pirates greeted Howie Pollet with five straight singles. Pollet was replaced by Ted Wilks before he got anybody out in the four-run first inning. After that it was duck soup for Dickson who threw a seven-hitter. The win put the Buccos in a first-place tie with the New York Giants for the National league lead.

ELLIOTT FELLED.

The Boston Braves' hopes of repeating as National league champs took a sharp drop when Third-baseman Elliott was hit on the knee and carried off the field at Shibe park on a stretcher. The big power man of the Boston attack was felled by a line drive off the bat of Puddin' Head Jones, the Phillies' sensational rookie. Later it developed that Elliott's injury was not considered serious.

Despite Elliott's accident, the Braves shut out the Phils, 2-0, on a fine three-hit effort by Warren Spahn. The Braves' southpaw ace, below par in two previous starts, was back in his old 1947 form Wednesday night.

Boudreau was forced to leave the Cleveland-Chicago White Sox afternoon game when hit on the left elbow by pitcher Orval Grove. X-ray pictures showed the injury apparently was only a bruise. Absence of Boudreau, even for a few games, would have been a vital blow at the World Champion Indians' chances of winning another American league flag.

Cleveland went on a batting spree to ruin the Chicago Sox, 11-3 with Mickey Vernon, the ex-Washington first sacker, and Ken Keltner hitting home runs.

The New York Yankees' March was rudely interrupted at Washington when the win-starved Senators came from behind to break a seven-game losing streak, 4-3 in 10 innings. The Nats scored three in the ninth after Allie Reynolds pitched shutout ball for 8 2/3 innings. Clyde Vollmer's triple was the big blow. In the extra frame, Washington hung the loss on fireman Joe Page.

Another seven-game losing streak was broken when the St. Louis Browns shaded the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 in 12 innings with Karl Drews, the Yankee Castoff, outpointing Hal Newhouser.

Vern (Junior) Stephens had a big batting day for the Boston Red Sox in a 10-6 romp over the Philadelphia A's. Stephens hit two homers and a single, driving in five runs.

National league day action was featured by the New York Giants' 11-8 win over Brooklyn in a wild contest at the Polo Grounds. Rookie Pete Milne's pinch homer with the bases loaded helped the Giants come from behind after blowing a 6-0 lead.

Yesterday's Stars

VERN STEPHENS, Red Sox, hit two homers and singled, driving in five runs as Boston downed Athletics, 10-6.

WARREN SPAHN, Braves—Shut out Phillies with three hits, 2-0.

Although Adam Krieger will not hold his regular Monday night wrestle next week, Lincoln's fairgrounds will not be without some form of athletic competition.

Jim "Sailor" White is putting on wrestling and boxing exhibitions as part of the All-state shows entertainment program. The show will be at the fairgrounds for the rest of the week.

White is an old rival of Adam. The two first met in a wrestling match over 25 years ago.

The next regular wrestling program under Mr. Krieger's direction will be held Monday, May 16.

A's Battle At Pueblo Cancelled

Lincoln To Try Again Against Looy Leaders

(Special to The Star)

PUEBLO, Colo.—Wet grounds continue to harass the Lincoln Athletics during their first week in the western end of the Western league. The A's series opener at Pueblo was postponed Wednesday night because of poor playing conditions.

Tuesday the A's were unable to play at Denver for the same reason. Lincoln and league-leading Pueblo will start their series tonight on the Dodger grounds.

The Omaha Cardinals continued their climb toward the top of the Western league standings Wednesday night, edging Des Moines 5-4 to take over second place.

In the night's other contest Sioux City tripped Denver 6-2. Denver entertains Sioux City again and Omaha journeys to Des Moines for a three-game series.

LATE RALLY.

Omaha had to come from behind to nail Des Moines. Trailing 4-3 in the last of the eighth with two on, Al Smith punched a single through the infield to score Al Neil from second. Nick Adzick came in on the play when Des Moines First Baseman Freddie Richards muffed the throw-in.

Sioux City had little trouble with Denver as they scored three runs in both the first and second innings and coasted in.

Heavy Entries By Local Teams

. . . IN DISTRICT TRACK MEETS

By GEORGE MILLER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

DISTRICT qualifying meets for Nebraska high school track teams will attract a total of 76 local athletes Saturday.

Twenty-seven Northeast squadmen and 23 Lincoln high performers will compete for state meet berths in the Class A district competition at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Nine Teachers high athletes will enter the Class B meet at Doane college in Crete. Seventeen College View performers will bid in a Class C carnival, also to be held at the Doane layout.

Track and field experts must qualify in Saturday tryouts to be eligible for the state meet May 13 and 14.

The Links and Rockets will be joined by Falls City, Fairbury and Beatrice for the Class A district meet. First four places in each individual event and the two top relay teams qualify in Class A meets.

CLASS B FIELD.

Teachers high will face a field including Auburn, Crete, Geneva, Hebron, Nebraska City, Pawnee City, Plattsmouth, Superior, Sutton, Tecumseh and Wilber in its Class B meet.

Top three individuals in each event and two relay teams will be qualified from each of six Class B qualifications. Other meets are slated at Bassett, Bayard, David City, Hartington and Kearney.

Coach Emory Priefert's College View squad goes against 19 rivals in the Doane Class C battle. Ashland, Beaver Crossing, Bellevue, Diller, Exeter, Friend, Gretna, Humboldt, Lewiston, Louisville, Milford, Peru Prep, Concordia of Seward, Table Rock, Valley, Waco, Waverly, Weeping Water and Wymore will be in the running with CV.

First two finishers in all individual events and the winning relay team qualify in Class C. Bassett, Bayard, Columbus, Hartington, Hastings, Kearney and Mc-Cook are sites of other Class C district meets.

The Viewmen won the team title last year in the district contest. This year's squad has two individual winners returning. Earl Elliott paced shot putters and Dale Dugger was the class of the milers in the 1948 qualifying routine.

Leroy Peery won the 100-yard dash for the Rockets last year but has had trouble hitting top form this spring. Jack Thomas, another NE entry, won the low hurdles in 1948. He is not entered in the low barrier race this year.

LINKS STARS.

Lincoln winners returning are Hobe Jones in the 880 and Jack Greer in the discus. Jones turned in a record-bettering 1:58 time in winning the half. That clocking exceeds the present state record of 1:59.3 held by Bobby Gunn.

Teachers high has no qualifiers returning from last year's team which finished fifth at Crete in Class B with 13 and 13/14 points.

Overhauling THE NEWS

BY WALLY DeBROWN

For years the most masculine place in the world was the seagoing Navy, but tradition just got a kick in the bicuspids with the announcement that the Waves are going to sea. While a few other countried have used lady sailors, the U. S. has kept the feminine sea-dogs in dry dock. This is bound to bring up more problems than a radio soap opera, because the Navy's battlewagons and assorted craft were never designed for co-ed conditions. As a tryout just a couple of Waves will be shipped out, and if the plan works we'll have permanent Waves afloat. Wonder if the Navy song will now be "Anchors A-Woo?"

Now that nice weather is here why not let us take the Permanent Waves out of the fenders and body on your battle wagon? No appearnce job is too tough for our body and paint dept., whether it be a scratch or a complete wreck.

In Manhasset, New Hampshire, seven children in one family had their tonsils removed at the same time. Well, that's one way to get peace and quiet around the house. Incidentally, if your car motor is wheezing and coughing . . . bring it in for an expert check-up at DeBROWN AUTO SALES CO., 1717 "O". OR . . . get some peace and quiet around your home by trading that old jalopy for one of our certified used cars? So you can really "go" this spring and summer.—Adv.

The Firing Line

by Norris Anderson
SPORTS EDITOR, THE STAR

AN EXTRA high credit to University of Nebraska athletics was the emergence of Fritz Ware, the track star, as one of the school's two ranking scholars . . . Fritz is the son of one of NU's staunchest followers, Frederick Ware, former sports editor and present managing editor of the Omaha World-Herald . . . Considering that his 92-average was achieved in the difficult realm of pre-medical studies, Ware's accomplishment is all the more a study in hard work, intelligence and strong will . . . When you can devote three hours to track daily and still be a scholastic leader, you're a real advertisement for university athletics . . . M. M. Nelson of the Beatrice navy recruiting service sends us word on Darrell Burney, ex-Husker track candidate from DeWitt . . . Burney, now in the navy, recently won three events as the San Diego Navy Center won a dual meet from the San Diego Athletic club . . . He won the 100-yard dash in :10.2, the broad jump at 22 feet, 2½ inches, and the high jump at 6-2 . . . Lincoln's proposed new city auditorium will accommodate basketball, boxing, tennis, ice skating, ice hockey, ice carnivals, wrestling and any type of athletic event requiring large indoor seating areas and various sizes of flat floor space. . . . A concourse area will be available to the city recreation department for table fennis, shuffle-board and other indoor sports . . . Total seating for all areas, according to present plans, is 9,255 . . . That includes fixed seats in the sloping balcony of the arena building, 3,050, and seating for flat floor, 2,650 . . . Although his first-round 74 was followed by an 83 second-round in the P.G.A. qualifying at Grand Island Sunday, the Country club's Bud Williamson was not too unhappy . . . A third nine of 45 cost him the 83, but his putting "felt good" for early season . . . A gale-like wind bothered all the contestants . . . Bill Glassford, energetic Husker mentor of the gridiron, has made 18 public appearances in the last 25 days . . . He's the best barnstormer and goodwill agent at NU since D. X. Bible—that's the outstate consensus.

THINGS we'd like to see: An outdoor boxing show at Sherman field in mid-May, built around Wiley Ferguson, Lincoln's hard-hitting light-heavyweight . . . Fans have been anxious for another look at Wiley since he kayoed Ernie Mason, Washington, D. C., battler, here a month ago . . . All Ven, winner of six Ak-Sar-Ben races a year ago, has reported to the Omaha track for the 1949 season . . . He is owned by the South Dakota horseman, Floyd Williams.

Larry Goetz, American league umpire, credits the Cubs' Bob Rush, former Des Moines pitcher (1947), with tossing the most effective sinker in the big leagues . . . Bob denies possessing a sinker, says his fast ball "just naturally sinks" . . . Another Des Moines alum of '47, Cliff Aberson, will make a great major league hitter if he learns how to swing, says Boss Charley Grimm of the Cubs . . . "He's no good to us unless he swings," Grimm told Sec (Des Moines Register) Taylor. "With his power he shouldn't be taking all those strikes."

Of his current frosh grid squad at Minnesota, Coach Bernie Bierman says: "I honestly believe we got more a year ago from what we thought was a poor freshman squad than we are going to get this year from what seemed a somewhat better squad." . . . P. S.—Bernie Bierman has long been known as the top pessimist among college coaches . . . Ed Morris, the Lincoln A's relief hurler, is a scholarly looking chap, with his glasses and reserve . . . His teammates call him "The Professor" . . . A native of Chattanooga, Tenn., Ed had a 12-10 record with Portsmouth, O., last year.

Hopley Report Only A Start In Civil Defense Planning

...Atomic Warfare Expert Declares

The need for thorough civil defense plans in case of another war was stressed Wednesday night by one of the army's top authorities on atomic warfare.

Lt. Col. David B. Parker, deputy director for atomic energy, plans and operations division of U. S. army general staff, pointed out our present vulnerability and the need for defense planning in a lecture at Love library auditorium.

The lecture was the last in a series of five sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, on the subject, "Are We Prepared?"

After mentioning the power of the atom bomb and possible effects of individual weapons, Col Parker discussed some of the defense measures that could be taken.

Make Own Plans.

He said municipalities should begin to lay plans for their own protection in case of atomic warfare.

The "Hopley Report," Col Parker said, was a good "first start." He did mention, however, that it puts emphasis on working from the top down.

Such planning, he stated, is not necessarily the "last word." Rather, he would work from the individual municipality up, with coordination and guidance from the federal government.

In reply to a reporter's question, Col. Parker said that Walter Winchell's attack on the Hopley report was "utterly absurd."

He then pointed out that England, which had a similar defense setup, did not endanger its civil or personal liberties. Winchell was off the track, he added, and quite obviously was not thoroughly acquainted with the report.

"Defense is not the only aspect of an atomic war," Col. Parker stated. "The delivery problem is even more important."

"Delivery is almost as important as stock-piling of critical material," he declared.

While building bombs, which we have been doing continually since the end of the war he noted parenthetically, we must develop faster and better ways to get them to the target, he said.

"We must be ready to deliver a massive blow with atomic bombs if the time ever comes that we need do so."

When questioned as to who would decide whether to use the atom bomb, Col. Parker replied "the president."

The Detroit area was designated as a "prime target for an aggressive blow from enemies. But proper civil defense measures would cut casualties immensely," he said.

Shelters, designed to withstand both blast and radio activity, were singled out as most important for civil defense. He noted the technical aspects as regards protection, which had mainly to do with distance and size of bomb.

In concluding, Col. Parker, quoted the recent speech of Winston Churchill, saying that "only the atom bomb in American hands has deterred the Soviet Union from waging an aggressive war."

Warren Austin Says:

Moscow Is Losing Cold War

U.N. Delegate Delivers Bitter Attack On Soviet

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of Defense Johnson said today the North Atlantic pact "cannot be relied upon" to attain its goals unless the United States backs it up with arms for treaty partners.

He told the senate foreign relations committee the treaty goes far toward making available manpower and strategic positions" for common defense.

"The main lack in this great partnership," he said, "will be materials —the materials required for defense."

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, told senators today Russia is losing the "cold war" and Soviet rulers are beginning to find it out.

Austin coupled a bitter attack on Russia with a plea for senate approval of the North Atlantic treaty.

The former Vermont senator told the senate foreign relations committee that the pact would promote U. N. efforts to keep the peace and "increase its ability to remove causes of war."

Claims "Brazen" Violation.

Austin accused the Soviets of "brazenly" violating U. N. charter pledges to refrain from use of threats and force against other countries. He said this "deliberate and calculated policy of obstruction" had crippled the U. N. and hampered work on peace treaties.

"While most of the world was seeking to build a system of collective security in the United Nation," he said, "the Soviet Union sought security through the discredited policy of territorial aggrandizement. This feudalistic concept of security threw its black mantle over country after country in eastern Europe."

Balance Is Swinging.

But, he said, the Soviets are running into growing opposition of the non-communist world and "the balance is swinging toward the forces favoring peaceful progress."

Austin made no direct reference to the proposed U. S. progrim to arm this nation's European allies under the 12 nation pact.

Some senators said today that part of Secretary of State Acheson's testimony on the Atlantic treaty yesterday may cost the pact vital senate votes.

They referred to Acheson's statement that to vote for the pact would be to endorse the administration position "that the United States can and should provide military assistance to the other pact countries."

Stocks Slip To Lower Level

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market got on a downward track early today and stayed there.

The decline was gentle, with most losses in fractional territory. A handful of issues emerged with small gains.

Turnover was slow throughout, which market technicians rate favorably as an indication no serious selling pressure is mangling over the market. Turnover was at the rate of around 800,000 shares for the full session.

Wall street paid as little attnetion to good news—principally in the form of some excellent earnings reports for the first quarter—as it did to bad. Lower prices resulted more from lukewarm demand than from vigorous selling.

Fourth Damage Suit Filed In West O Crash

A fourth civil suit arising from the six-car collision Nov. 18 on West O street in which two university students were killed was filed Wednesday in District court against Donald W. Reed, driver of one of the cars involved.

Arthur F. Shotkoski, bringing the latest lawsuit, asks $40,000 in personal injury damages. He charges he received a fractured skull and compound fracture of the left leg. He was hospitalized 48 days, the petition states.

Lawsuits previously have been filed by Harris Esluer, Arnold E. Nieveen and Carl Bamesburger, father of one of the students killed in the accident.

Wheat Prices Take A Plunge

CHICAGO—(AP)—The grain market took a solid pounding today. Heavy selling which swept into May wheat around midway in the session spread to other pits. All commodities were marked down for large losses.

At one time May wheat fell more than 7 cents at extreme lows. Losses were reduced shortly before the close, but the market continued highly nervous. Trading was very active.

May corn dropped more than 4 cents before rallying. Other corn deliveries held up better. Soybeans dropped more than 4 cents at the day's lows.

Pit observers said a big elevator house held heavy quantities of May wheat, starting the break. An eastern commission house also sold during the early part of the downturn. Some selling also came from a large local trader.

The heavy selling touched off a large number of stop loss orders, particularly below $2.22 for May wheat. The slight rally came on short covering.

One factor in the downturn, traders said, was fear that the government would withdraw from the cash market after this week. It will come into possession of large quantities of wheat April 30 when loans on the 1948 crop fall due.

Wheat closed 3⅞ to 6¼ cents lower. May $2.19@2.18⅝, corn was 2 to 3½ cents lower, May $1.33⅝@1.34, oats were ⅞ to ¾ cent lower May 68⅝@⅞c, rye was 3 to 3½ cents lower, May 1.34, soybeans were 3¼ to 4¾ cents lower, May $2.23@2.22¾, and lard was 25 to 38 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $11.82.

Job Of Shipping Out Trees Ends

The big job of packing and shipping out 1,500,000 Clarke-McNary trees to Nebraska farmers for 1949 planting is finished.

Extension Forester Earl G. Maxwell returned to the University of Nebraska Thursday after the shipping job was finished at the Nebraska National Forest at Halsey and at Fremont. Almost 1,500,000 of the trees were distributed this year by the agricultural extension service.

"It was a long job and we're glad it's completed," Maxwell said. "We worked 9½ days at Halsey getting out the evergreens. The stock this year was fine."

The forester called attention to the fact that there, however, is time for farmers and ranchers to get some broadleaf trees. The extension service will still accept applications for ash, American elm and honey locust.

Deputy County Superintendent Bill Is Signed

...By Governor

Governor Val Peterson Thursday signed into law LB 422, giving all county superintendents authority, with the approval of the county board to employ a deputy superintendent.

According to the bill the deputy will serve as assistant to the county superintendent in the supervision and administration of the schools in the county.

County Superintendent Glenn Turner, Lincoln, said Thursday that there is no need for a deputy in his office at the present time. He said the current staff is adequate for the volume of work now being handled.

The measure also gives the superintendent the authority to employ any other persons necessary as his assistants.

The law will become effective 60 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

N.S.M.A. Head Sees Lower Health Standards If Truman Plan Adopted

President Truman's compulsory health insurance program would inevitably lower the standards of a healthy America to those of sick, regimented Europe, Dr. J. E. M. Thomnson, Lincoln, president of the Nebraska State Medical association, declared today.

Referring to the president's special message to congress, Dr. Thomson stated that the health of the American people would be seriously endangered if this "scourge of the old world is allowed to spread to the new world."

"The medical profession in Nebraska is wholeheartedly opposed to that type of medical care being adopted in this country," Dr. Thomson said.

Dr. Thomson stated that the doctors of this country enthusiastically endorse one of the president's objectives—that of bringing adequate medical services within the reach of all of the people.

Dr. Thomson pointed out that during his two recent trips to Europe he had personally observed the deterioration of medical practice and scientific advancements under state controls. He said the pattern was the same in every country that had embarked upon a system of socialized medicine.

The medical association president asserted that the program of compulsory health insurance as advocated by the president would require "exhorbitant" payroll taxes from every employe and employer. He said that the "bureaucratic overhead" needed to run this kind of national program would eventually demand a tax of eight to ten per cent of every pay check, which is "two or three times as much as present medical costs."

Dr. Thomson refuted the president's statement in his report to congress that only 3,500,000 people have health insurance protection. "That was true 10 or 15 years ago," he stated, "but today some 52,000,000 American citizens are protected under voluntary health insurance policies."

Dawson Youths To Attend Canadian Farmers Meeting

Charles and Dorothy MacLean, brother and sister Dawson county Rural Youth members, have been selected by the Rural Youth state committee to represent Nebraska at the Canadian Junior Farmers association conference scheduled next week at the college of agriculture, Guelph, Canada.

This is a Canadian national conference of young farmers similar to the Rural Youth conference last summer at Jackson's Mill, W. Va., which Canadian young farm delegates attended.

Charles is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska and a past president of the Nebraska Rural Youth organization. Dorothy is state secretary of the group and is employed at the county extension office in Lexington. They will be accompanied to the meeting by Miss Elaine Skucius, Dawson county home agent, and will be gone approximately 10 days.

The state Rural Youth organization and the Rotary International at Lexington are paying the expenses of the Nebraska delegates and their sponsors.
